FOREWORD

In presenting our 1937 Meta it is the hope of the editors that our Year Book will serve in future years as a mirror, reflecting the social, athletic, and academic activities of the members of our class of 1937. That this mirror may help us to recollect happily and clearly is our earnest desire. It will, we hope, reflect those intangible yet powerful factors which contribute to the congenial and systematic development during the school life of each and every student. It will, we hope, picture the inspiring personalities of the teachers as they unfalteringly guide young minds along the pathway of intellectual and moral progress. It will portray, we hope, the wholesome spirit of the institution dedicated to the enrichment of youth, preparing and inspiring them to pass through the portal of graduation into broader and more diversified activities ever reminding them that,

"There is no standing still: Even as I pause,
The steep path shifts, and I slip back apace.
No idling in the pathway hard and slow:
I must go forward, or must backward go."

Last, but not least, we hope it will produce in each of us, her students, a deep love for an abiding loyalty to our Alma Mater.

We are conscious that our skill is unequal to the task of constructing such a mirror. We complete this book, however, satisfied that it contains our best efforts. May this, the fifteenth issue of the Meta, serve well its purpose in recalling to the minds of the members of '37 the pleasurable occasions, friendly faces and profitable years of high school.

OUR ALMA MATER

CLASS ODE

Our Guide of youth,
We pledge to thee love and devotion;
Our hearts in truth
Are filled with a saddened emotion.
We leave your hallowed walls, happy halls, duty calls;
A beacon light you'll be, pointing and guiding the way.
We'll ne'er forget
Your slogan "To do or to die";
With deep regret
We leave thee, Oh Peabody High.
So P. H. S. we pledge
Our hearts to Thee.
A goal you've given;
May thirty-seven
Faithful sons and daughters be.

Farewell, classmates,
Our carefree High School days are ended;
Four years of work
And pleasures together we've blended.
Those happy days are done, full of joy, full of fun;
We come to bid adieu
To each friend so tried and so true.
The joys we've had
Will linger through all of our days;
Our hearts grow sad
We've come to the parting of ways.
In other days to come
We'll meet again.
Do well, classmates;
Farewell, clasmates;
God be with you all your days.

Theodore Vrettos.

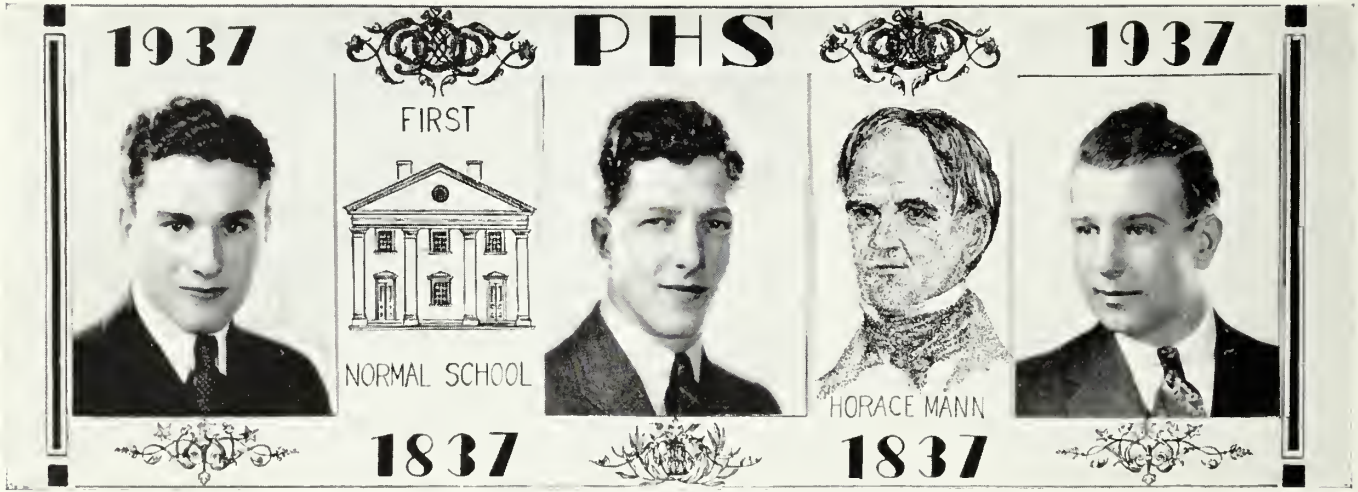
PRINCIPAL ARTHUR J. BARRY

OUR PRINCIPAL

We, the members of the class of '37, who are about to leave these hallowed halls, take genuine pleasure in expressing our sincere and heartfelt gratitude to Principal Arthur J. Barry for his helpfulness and understanding.

We are indebted to Mr. Barry in more ways than our words can adequately express. To us he was like the Delphi oracle, a constant source of wise counsel and cogent reasoning. He seemed always to be cognizant of the proclivities of modern youth and was always capable of coping with the problems that confronted us in the years we have been under his guidance. Realizing the need and the benefits derived from student activities, both athletic and social, our principal has unstintingly given of his time and service that these activities might be successful.

It is a source of real gratification that we have concluded our high school studies during the regime of Principal Arthur J. Barry. May he long continue to serve youth wisely and understandingly.



SIDNEY E. ABRAMS

"Whom all men envy and women admire."

GLEE CLUB ORCHESTRA

BASEBALL BAND

"Sid" deserted Portsmouth to join our ranks in his Junior Year. With his congenial personality and his saxaphone as assets he has acquired many friends. We hope his path in life will be an easy one on which to tread.

JOHN F. ALBERGHINI

"Opportunity comes every day."

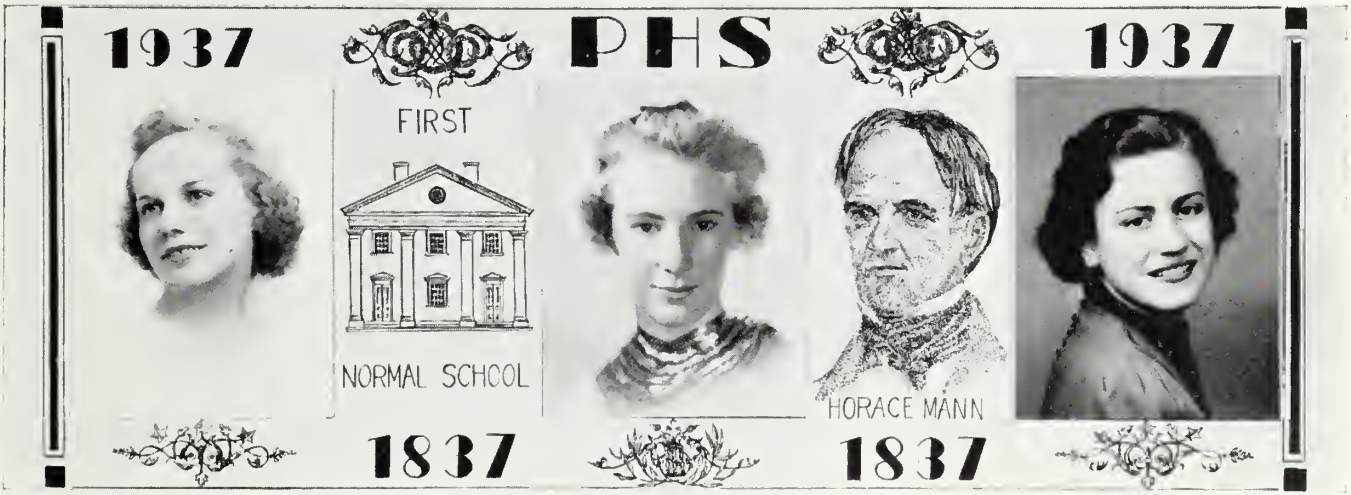
With a twinkle in his eye and a smile diffusing his face, John has for the past four years disseminated his gay and sunny disposition in our midst. Keep up the good work, John, and we are confident that you will be readily received into the society of business men.

MICHAEL E. AMBRAZAVITCH

"How could we get along without him?"

JUNIOR CLASS TREASURER
SENIOR CLASS PRESIDENT
STRAND NIGHT FOOTBALL CAPTAIN
BASKETBALL

It is difficult to describe "Mike," our popular Football Captain. He has successfully served us, both as Treasurer and as President. He won the the Alumni Award for being the best scholar-athlete. What more could we say about our popular leader?



IRJA H. ANDERSON

"A voice as thrilling ne'er was heard."

DEBATING CLUB — GLEE CLUB
SPANISH CLUB — STRAND NIGHT
TRAFFIC SQUAD

No introduction seems necessary for "Andy" one of our most talented and most popular classmates. As a dramatic soprano Irja is certainly "tops" and we look forward with confidence to the day when this charming blonde daughter of '37 will win high honors in the world of music.

ROSE V. APLIN

"Cheering, laughing moving on,
As merry as the day is long."

SPANISH CLUB — GIRLS' BASKETBALL
FIELD HOCKEY — LUNCH COUNTER

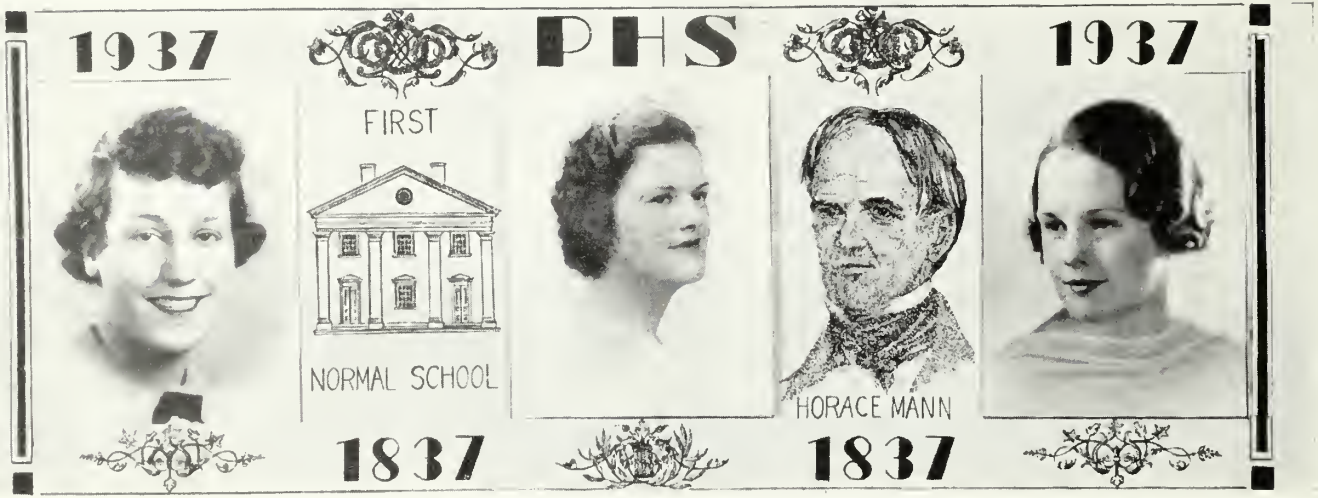
Rose, without a doubt is known for her amiable disposition. Tall and blonde, she has been to us a constant source of joy and amusement. Ever-ready with her cheery laughter she has brightened many of our days. Best of luck in the future, Rose. The class of '37 expects big things from you.

CHRISOULA ARGEROS

"Study is not an end, but a means."

META STAFF — CHEER LEADER
SALUTATORIAN — GIRLS' BASKETBALL

One will not soon forget Chris and her happy, carefree ways. She charms you with her smile. As we gaze into the crystal of the future we feel sure there is great success in store for her. An excellent student, a good pal, a true friend — need we say more?



HELEN E. ARGETES

"Hence, loathed Melancholy!"

Every little mark in shorthand has for Helen a peculiar meaning. And the taps she makes on her typewriter are music to her ears. We're under the impression that in the life that lies ahead Helen will make her mark and will tap out many happy tunes.

ELSIE R. BALNAVES

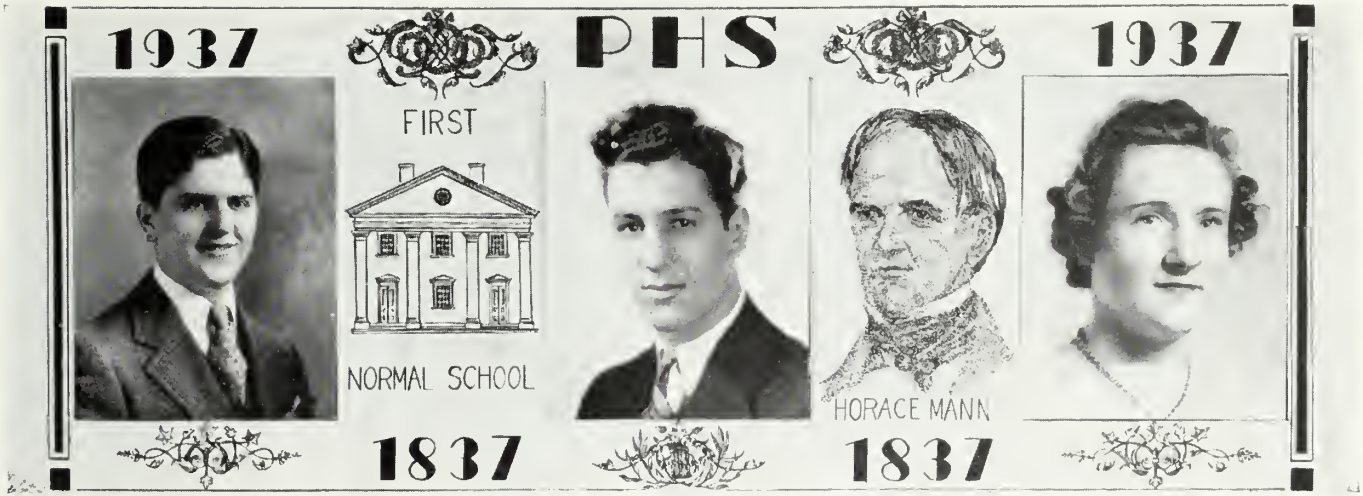
"Speech is silver, silence is golden."

We have enjoyed having Elsie with us these last four years and will be sorry to lose her companionship. Although she has not entered into many school activities she has been a friend to us all. Best of luck in the future, Elsie!

VIVIAN D. BARNETT

"Full of gentle kindness
Her looks and language are."

A cheery smile, and a kindly manner seem to set Vivian apart from mere mortals. Her charming ways and inborn graciousness are certain indications that she will win and hold many friends in the years to come. No one has more sincere wishes for the best than has our "Viv."



GEORGE BARAOS

"Let no man know thy business save thy friend."

George is quiet even to the extent of sometimes being very, very quiet. But we're told on good authority that under that reticent manner of his are qualities, golden qualities that will win for George a high position in the business world for which he is preparing.

CHRISTUS BATALARIS

"Men of few words are the best."

FOOTBALL

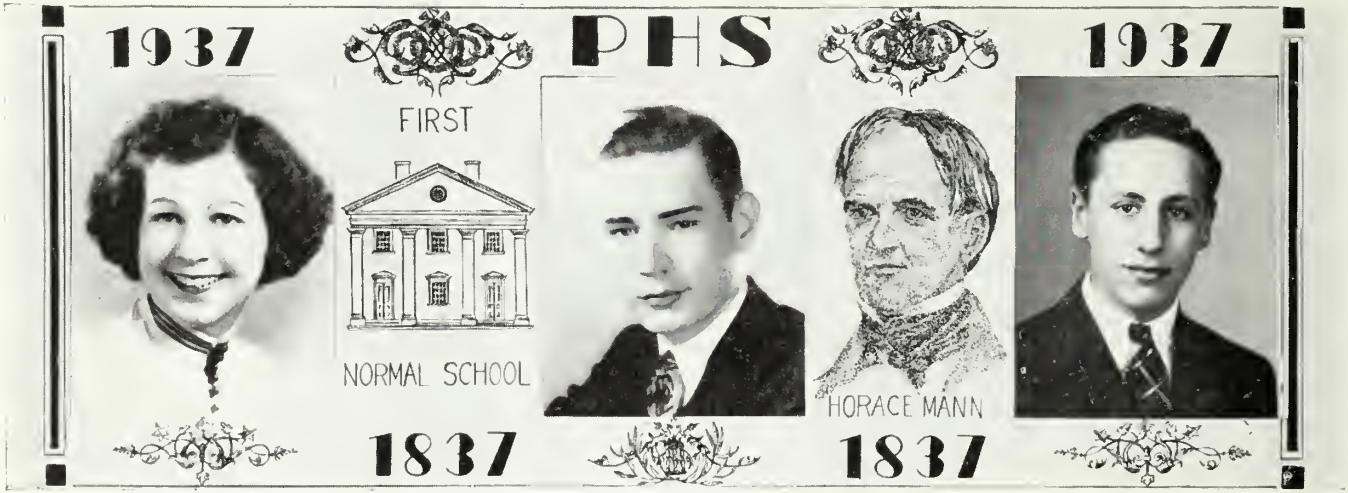
On first meeting Chris, one is impressed by his slow but sure demeanor. Although a deliberate thinker, his judgment is always sound, not only in the classroom but on the football field. If Chris adheres to these attributes throughout life, it is inevitable that success will be his.

LILLIAN A. BATEMAN

"All things may seem easy to the industrious."

SPANISH CLUB

May we present Lillian, one of Peabody High School's most talented penmen. During the four years she has spent with us her charming smile and her perpetual ambition, together with her sunny nature, have endeared her to us all.



C. LILLIAN BERNARD

"Her smile is like a ray of sunshine."

SPANISH CLUB

Here is another one of our charming classmates who have helped to make our High School days the more enjoyable. Have you ever noticed her eyes twinkling as she smiles? Her cheery disposition is sure to help her find success in whatever field she chooses to grace.

JOHN F. BERRY

"Common sense is the genius of our age."

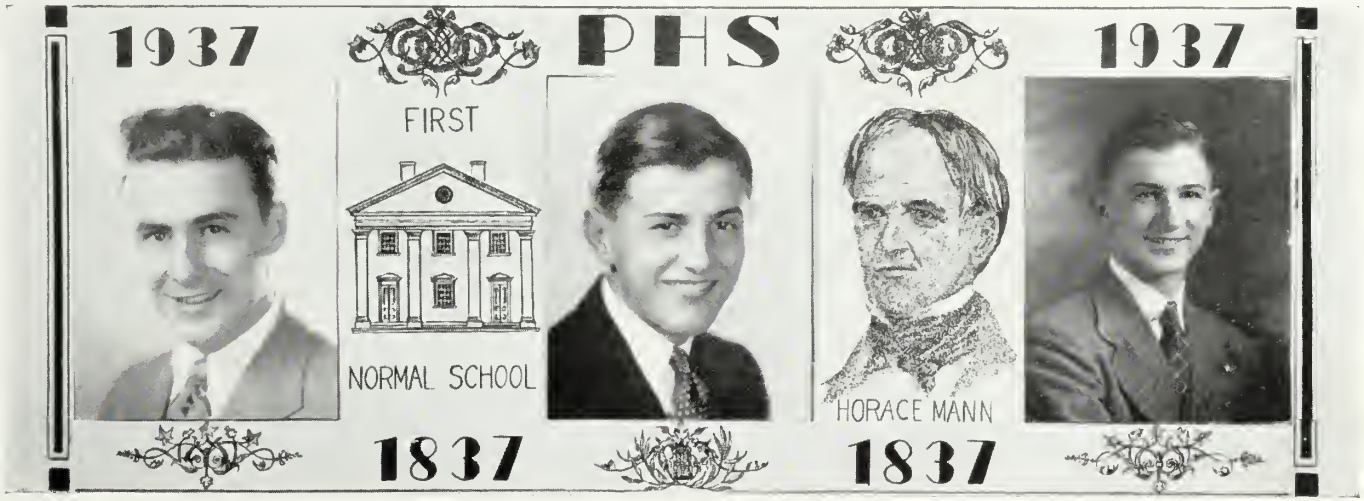
You've not heard thus far too much about our friend and real pal, "Jack" Berry. We suspect that he has been holding some of his fire for the battle ahead. You, my dear reader, may rest assured that when the final score is told, "Jack" will be found among the leaders of men.

ERNEST A. BOLCATI

"Seize the present; trust the future as little as possible."

BASEBALL SPANISH CLUB

Although short in stature, "Ernie" possesses a great deal of enthusiasm in the many activities in which he takes part. During our years with him his good-natured pranks have lightened many a dull moment. Graduation means for us the parting of the ways, but we'll not soon forget "Ernie's" sunny disposition.



PHILIP E. BOURGEOIS

"As we grow better we meet better people."

Philip is one of those students who speak only when spoken to. General and affable, he has made a host of friends in his quiet, dignified manner. Being a hard worker, he will, it is quite evident, achieve success in the business world.

AMERICO J. BOVIO

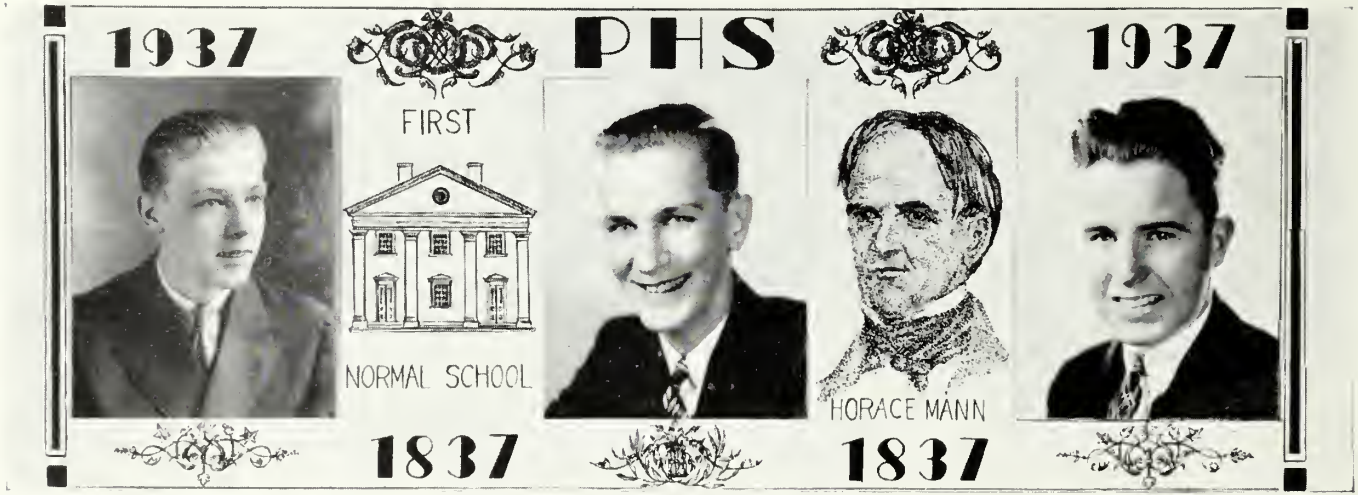
"Give every man thy ear, but few thy voice."

In the years that we have known Americo we have learned that beneath that rather retiring manner of his are qualities, sincere and deep, that augur well for his future. There is little doubt that he will accomplish much in life, winning for himself the esteem and affection of the friends of future years.

JAMES F. BOWDEN

"A Pal to the Very End."

"Jimmy" is one of the smiling students. He shoulders his cares and troubles with a grin and never appears to have an unhappy moment. His presence brightens all his classrooms for, possessing a friendly spirit, he is well-liked by everyone. Good luck to you, "Jim."



EDWARD J. BOZEK

"All in all a fellow to be liked."

Eddie is one of our tallest classmates. Not many can measure a step as long as his stride. We feel confident that his steps on the Road to Success will be equally lengthy. Eddie has a rare sense of humor and when the occasion presents itself he is capable of providing much amusement.

GEORGE B. BRAZUK

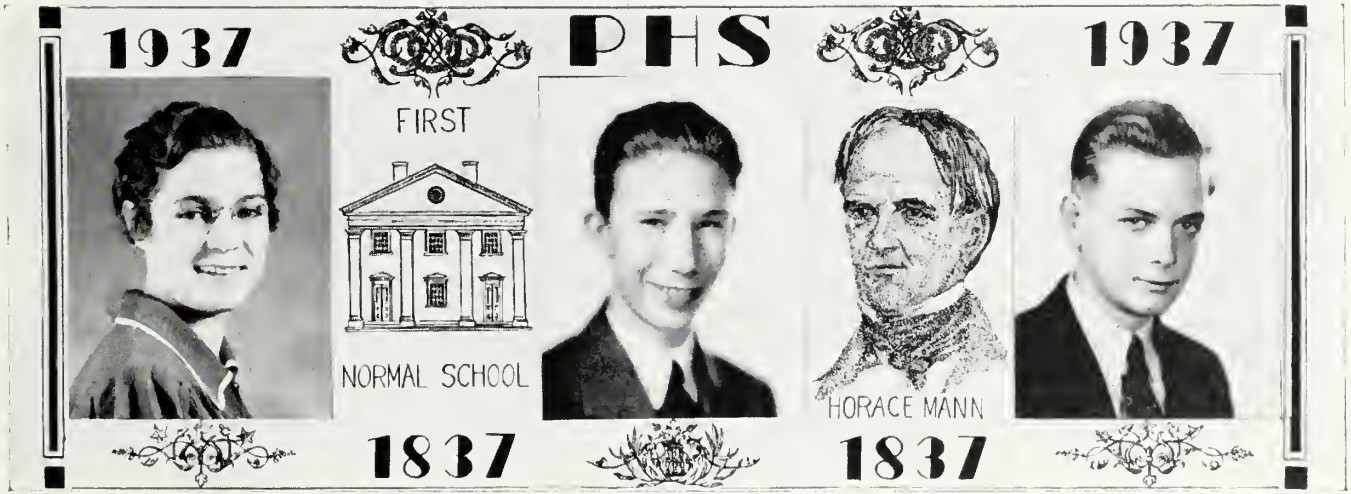
"Things without all remedy should be without regard."

The quotation here used for George is not intended as advice, for we who know him well are confident that he is the last person who will ever "cry over spilled milk." In fact we are confident that in the years ahead George won't spill much milk because he doesn't believe in making mistakes.

CARL E. BRINTNALL

"Learn to see what you look at."

We do not hear much from this quarter but there is fire there waiting for air. Carl has the makings of a mathematical genius and has held his own in this field. We may expect to hear his thunder later on. Watch out folks, here he comes.



HANNAH M. BROUGHTON

"Level eyes beneath level brows
Are good tokens of a level head."

SPANISH CLUB LUNCH COUNTER

An always cheerful countenance is one of Hannah's many admirable characteristics. Quiet? At times, yes. But only during those intervals when she is attacking and solving some more or less intricate problem. She'll make a great little secretary for some lucky business executive.

PAUL V. BUCHANAN

"Mine is a sociable silence."

SPANISH CLUB

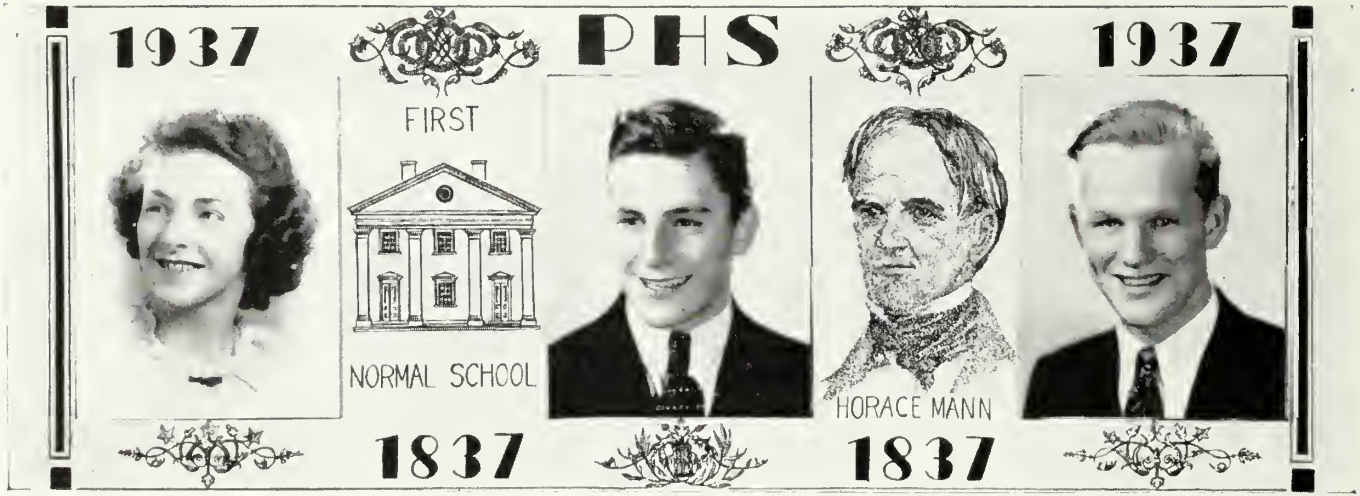
Of all the members of the class of '37 there is perhaps no one who has left a deeper imprint upon us than Paul. Sincere, earnest, industrious are some of the traits of character that mark this son of '37 for some very real achievements of future days. We picture him as one of our rising young business executives.

LOUIS P. BURAS

"He is most worthy who has lofty ideals."

BASEBALL

The great American game just happens to be "Louie's" favorite sport. The way he plays it, however, leads us to believe that in life he will play the game hard and clean with the inevitable result that he will be one more of the sons of '37 to reflect honor upon his school and upon the class of '37.



DOROTHY R. CALLAHAN

"Kindness wins friends."

WOMAN'S CLUB SPANISH CLUB

META STAFF HONOR STUDENT

Possessing a pleasing disposition, Dorothy has won a wide circle of friends. In addition she is a student of great ability. We have been very glad of her presence among us and there is no doubt that she will go on her way armed with those many qualities we have so admired in her.

STEPHEN T. CAPELLOS

"He has a thought for every word, and his words are many."

META STAFF TRACK

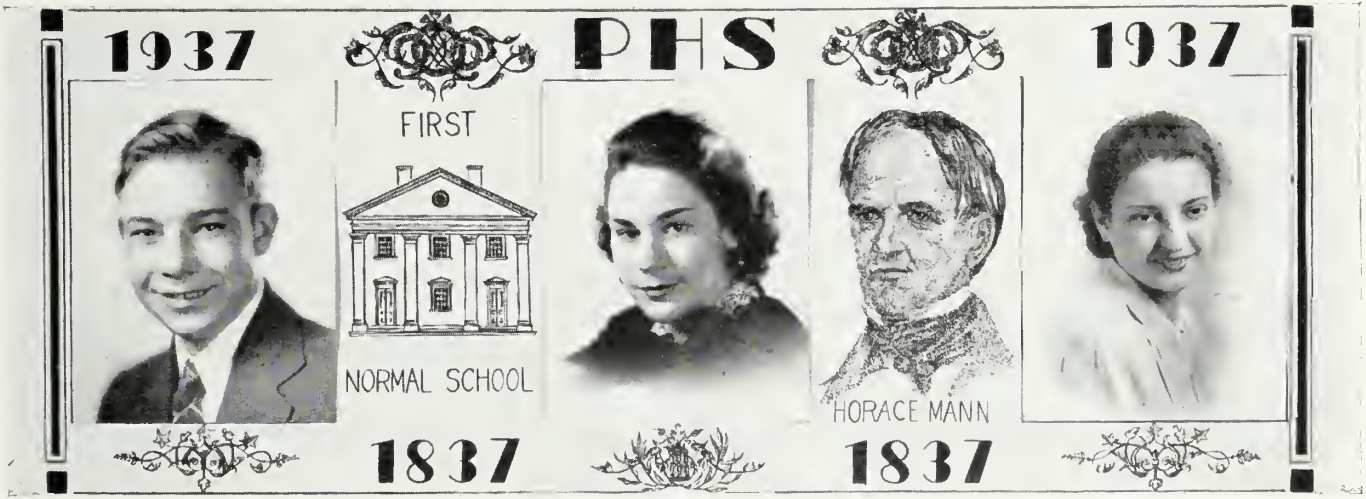
SPORTS FELLOWSHIP FOOTBALL

"Steve" may be small, but he has a heart with room for many. Most of us will remember him as one of Peabody's outstanding backfield men, but he has no little literary ability as well. Graduation will take "Cappy" from our midst, but not from our hearts.

RAYMOND E. CARPENTER

"When one unlocks this atom's power,
What forces will find freedom!"

All of us who know "Ray" can safely wager that he never during his years at high school made his presence annoying either to his teachers or to his fellow classmates. This tall, blond, goodlooking chap, in his silent but winning way, is sure to succeed because of the very excellent traits which characterize him.



ALEXANDER CHUMACK

"There's no higher patriotism than doing one's duty."

"Al" has been rather quiet in his years with us, but from what we have gleaned from those closest to him, there is plenty of fun and good humor in him that is not immediately apparent to the casual acquaintance. We're counting on "Al" for some worthwhile achievements that will win for him the measure of success that is his due.

S. SHIRLEY COHEN

"Dancing feet, sparkling eyes."

DEBATING CLUB SPANISH CLUB

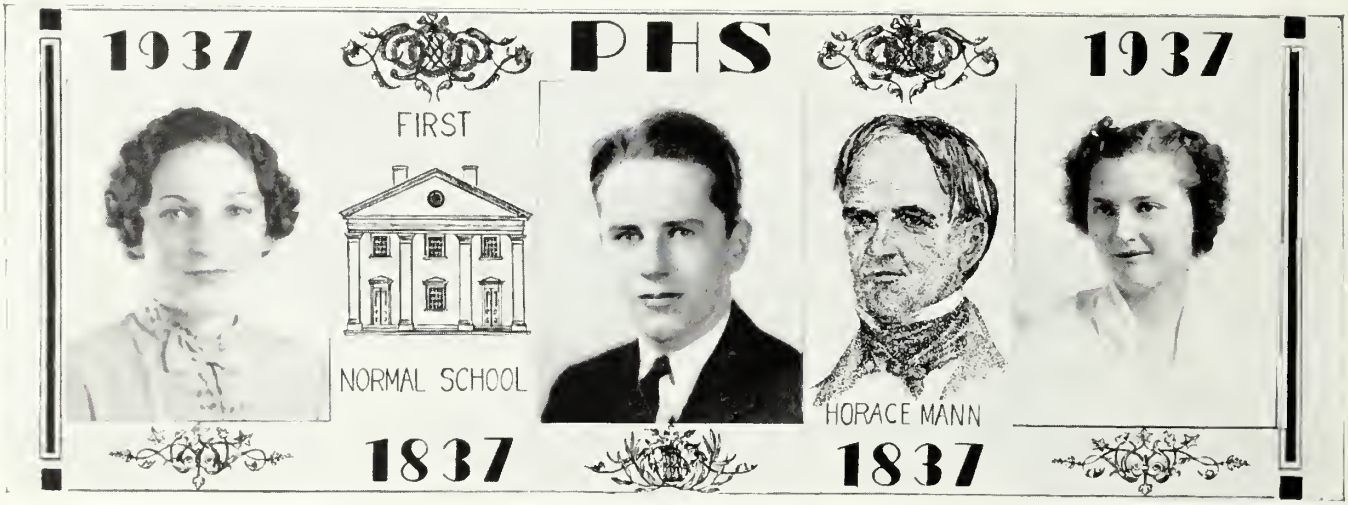
GLEE CLUB

Do you know who this is? Why of course it's Shirley. She has laughed and danced her way into our hearts with her enchanting smile and charming manner. A lover of good times as well as a good student, Shirley will reap the profits of her success.

JOSEPHINE M. COLA

"Friendship is a sheltering tree."

Shy, modest, retiring seem to be the adjectives which best describe this charming lady of '37. If we had the vision of the seer we probably would see in the not far distant future Josephine acting as the efficient secretary to some very fortunate business executive. Good luck to you, Josephine.



EDNA C. COMEAU

"Her words are few, but oh, so sweet."

SPANISH CLUB

Those who will be fortunate enough to become well acquainted with Edna in the future will appreciate her companionship as we have treasured it throughout our high school years. Her cheerful attitude in every activity of her daily life has won for her many friends in the class of '37. We wish you well, Edna.

CHARLES L. COONEY

"Just call me 'friend' "

DEBATING CLUB FOOTBALL

SCIENCE CLUB TRACK TEAM

Although "Charlie" has been with us only three years, coming to us from Danvers in '34, he has in this time by his winning personality acquired a host of friends. He has been prominent in our social functions, and has helped many of these affairs "over the top." We all join in wishing him good luck.

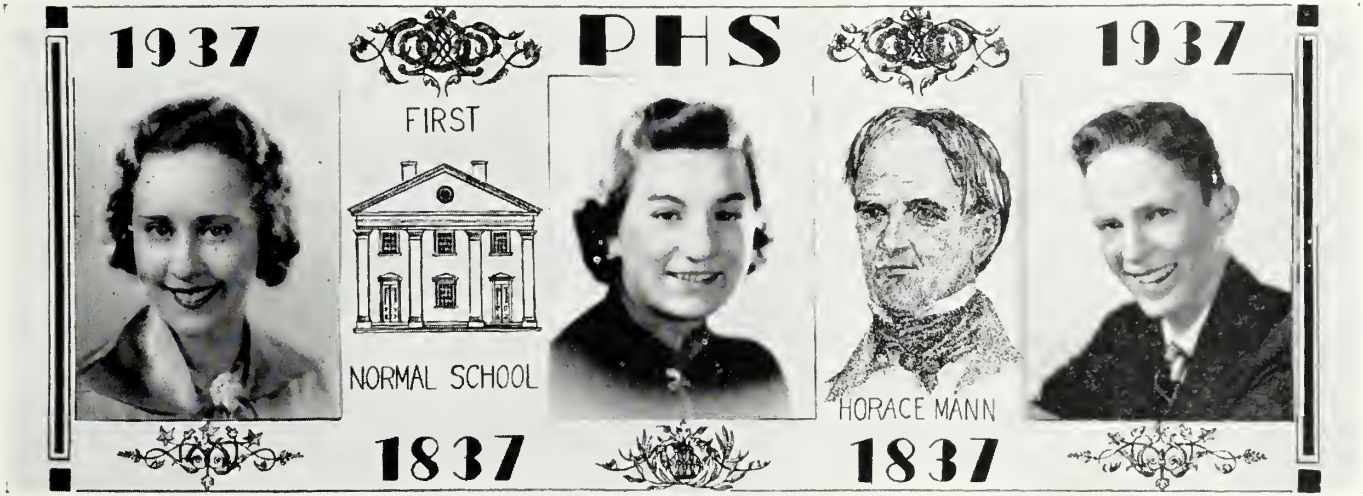
PAULINE COURTIS

"Gaiety is life."

META STAFF SPANISH CLUB

SCHOOL PLAY CHEER LEADER

Our own fun-loving "Polly!" Wherever there's music and laughter you're sure to find "Polly" in all her glory. She's quite a "social butterfly," always sought after by the good dancers at our proms and frolics. "Polly" doesn't look for friends; they simply gather around her like bees to honey.



JEAN F. CUSICK

"Modest, simple and sweet."

WOMAN'S CLUB

Jean's most distinctive characteristic is quietness. Nowhere else can such a perfect lady be found. The old saying: "The quiet shall rule," seems to fit in here nicely, for we predict great things for Jean. She is one of our best students, and one of our nicest girls. We are sure her efforts will always meet with success.

ROSINA DI CROCE

"A good disposition is more valuable than gold."

META STAFF WOMAN'S CLUB

CHEER LEADER

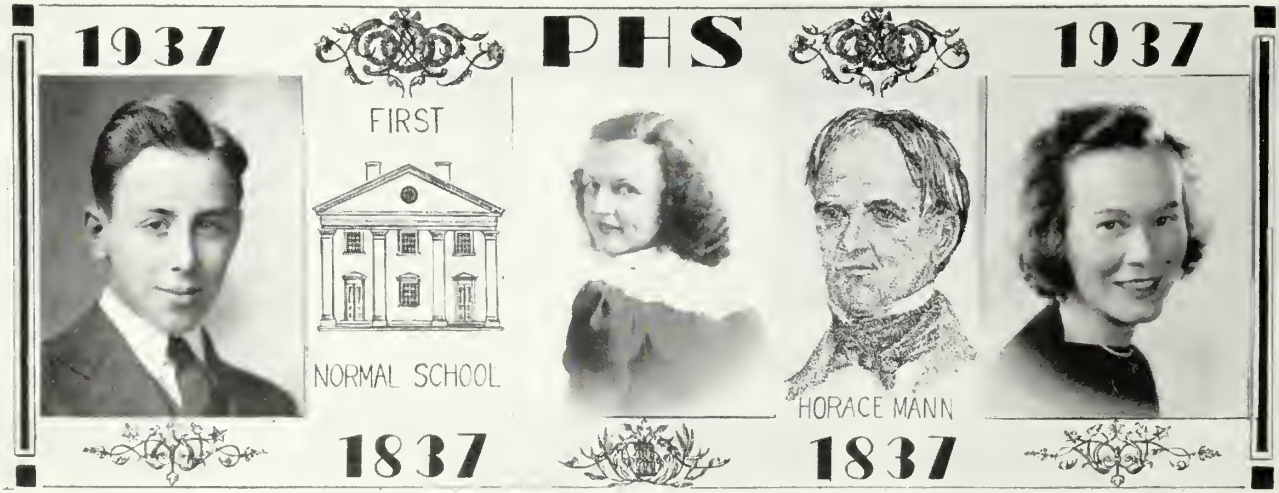
Rosina has proved to be a most popular classmate. She is a good student, as well as an energetic supporter of the class. She is always cheerful, thus making many of our dreary days into happy ones. We feel sure that all her excellent qualities will aid her in whatever field she chooses.

LAWRENCE P. DOHERTY

"The secret of success is constancy to purpose."

SCIENCE CLUB GLEE CLUB

At first Lawrence appeared to be retiring but were we to be surprised! Upon knowing him better, we discovered balanced rations of humor, jollity, sportsmanship and initiative. 'Larry" has been a real friend and deserves the best, of which we hope he gets a generous share.



ROBERT T. DOLLOFF

"His worth is warrant for his welcome."

OBSERVER STAFF — META STAFF
STRAND NIGHT — SCHOOL PLAY
BAND AND ORCHESTRA

"Bob" is our adopted brother, having come from Haverhill this year. When one thinks of him, music is the next thing that comes to mind, for his name is in reality a synonym for that particular form of art. The xylophone is his specialty on which he has entertained us many times.

KATHERINE DONAHUE

"Better be small and shine than be great and cast a shadow."

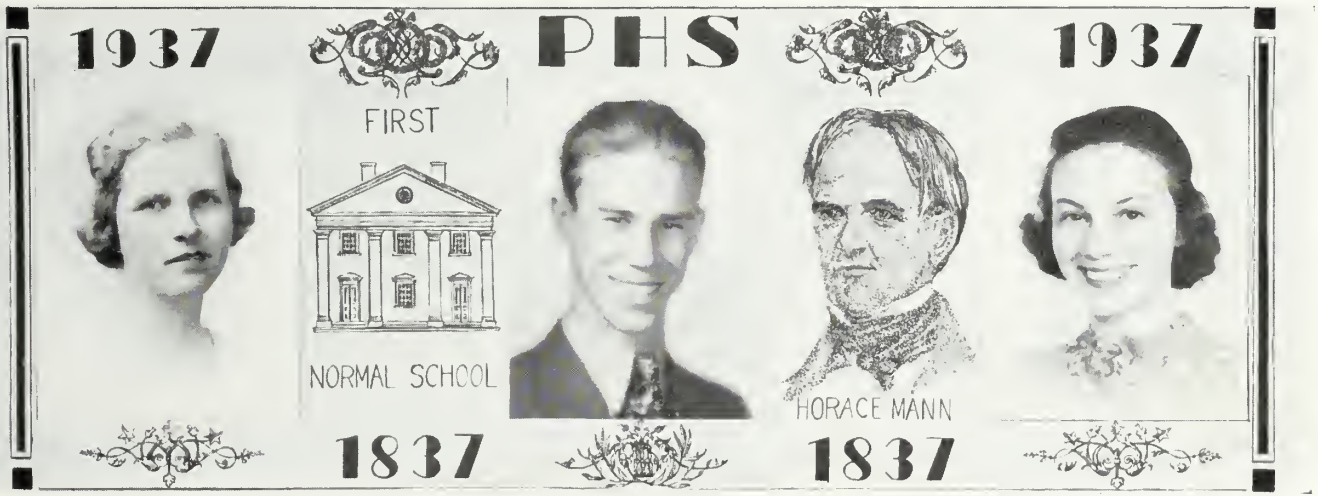
To us the South is noted for two things: cotton and "Kay." "Kay" came to us from way down in Dixie only a few short months ago, but has already made many friends. So true is this, that she is really one of us. That is talent.

OLIVIA C. DONOVAN

"Blushing is the color of virtue."

WOMAN'S CLUB — SPANISH CLUB
TRAFFIC SQUAD — GLEE CLUB
JUNIOR RED CROSS

Olivia is one of our quiet girls, but we who know her better, have gained much from her sunny disposition. "Sudsie" personifies "Blessed are the meek for they shall inherit the earth." However, she can take hard work in lumps without a murmur. In short, she thinks and does.



MARY E. DOOGE

"A little aloof from worldly cares."

Mary was never one to seek friendships, but the extra effort required to win her confidence was well worth the while. Mary is the Class of '37's "Sophisticated Lady." Her self-confident air and perfect grooming, rate her this coveted title. We know she will succeed in any line of endeavor she might choose.

MALCOLM DOUGLAS

"You find him honest, square, and straight."

A newcomer to our class, "Mal" is a welcome addition. How we all love to hear his pleasant Southern drawl! He has gained many friends during his few months with us, by his congenial smile and quiet manner. The whole class joins in extending hearty wishes for success to you, "Mal."

MARGUERITE E. DRAGO

"The joy of youth and health her eyes displayed."

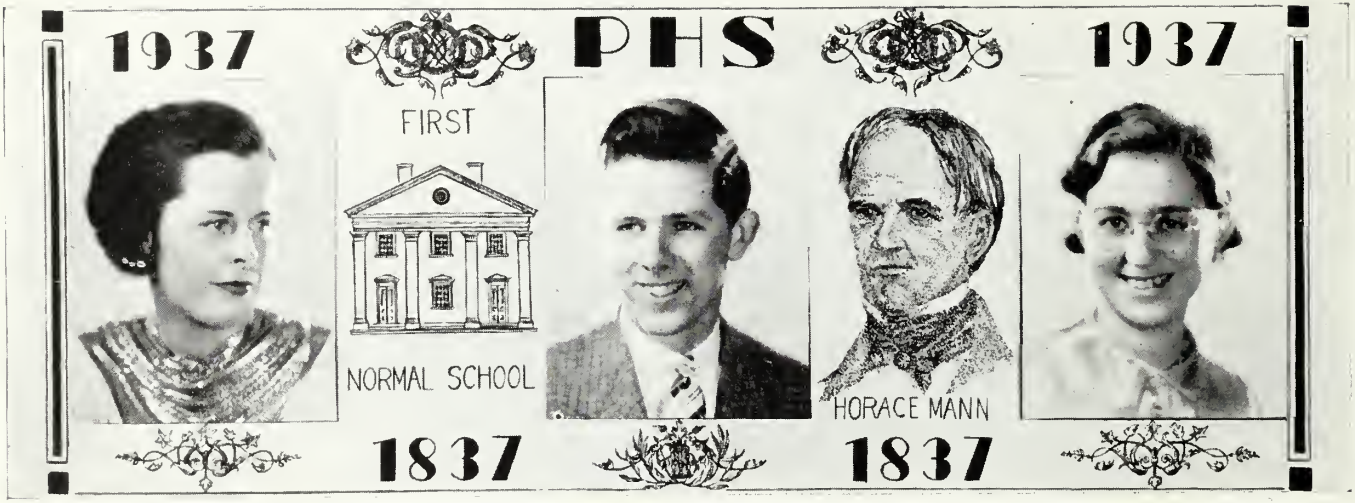
"Margie," the girl of petite dimensions, is one of the most lovable members of the class. Margie is also one of our style setters. Daintiness, ambition, and ability to make friends, are only a few of her fine qualities. We all join in wishing this little comrade the best of luck.



VERONICA F. DRISCOLL

"To know her is to love her."

GLEE CLUB TRAFFIC SQUAD

"Ronnie" is a friend of everyone, never-failing to give a comrade a helping hand. Her good qualities as a cheerful companion and her gay good humor have won her the friendship of many fellow students. "Ronnie's" reward in future life is assured.

JAMES R. DULLEA

"Nothing great was ever achieved without effort and patience."

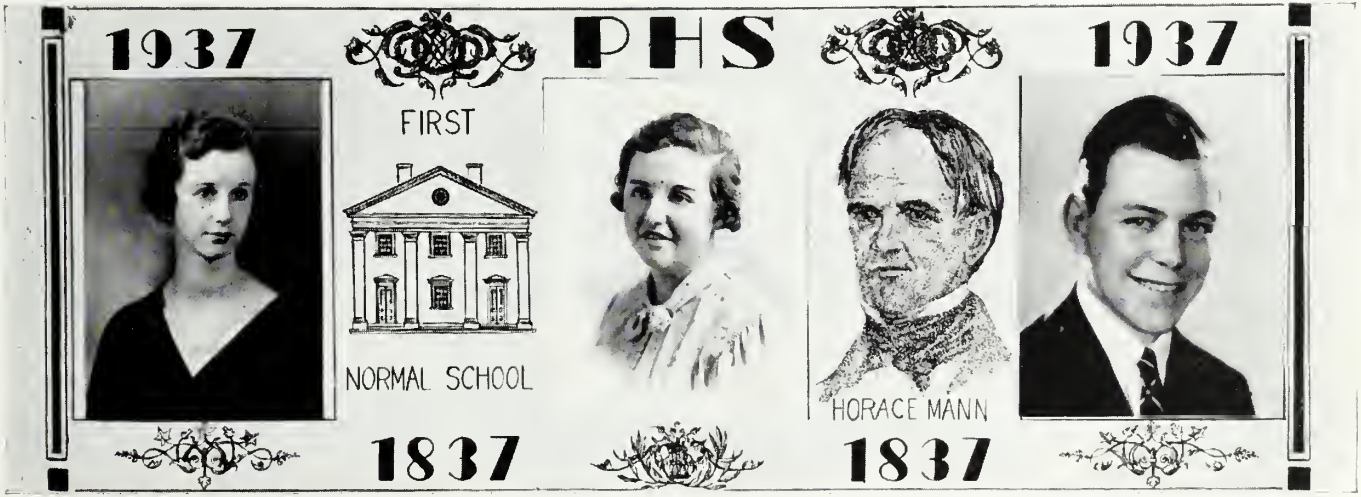
For four years "Ray" has gone among us in a very quiet and modest manner. A more determined and ambitious student could hardly be found in our midst. Though of an unassuming nature "Ray" has sincerity which is easily discerned in his character by even a slight acquaintance. May success and good luck be yours in future years, "Ray."

ANNIE DUNN

"A heart of gold."

SPANISH CLUB

Annie's generous and cheerful smile will certainly be missed at school, but we will always remember her as sincere, eager to help others, and very generous with her smiles. With these splendid personal qualities, there is no doubt that Annie will succeed.



CATHERINE F. DUNN

"A disposition really matchless."

META STAFF SPANISH CLUB

We of the class of '37 are quite fortunate in having as one of our fellow students the one and only Catherine Dunn. Possessed of a good disposition and charming manner, Catherine is admired by her many friends. Her winning smile will help her gain a merited success.

EILEEN M. DYNAN

"A friend is never known until a man have need."

SPANISH CLUB JUNIOR RED CROSS

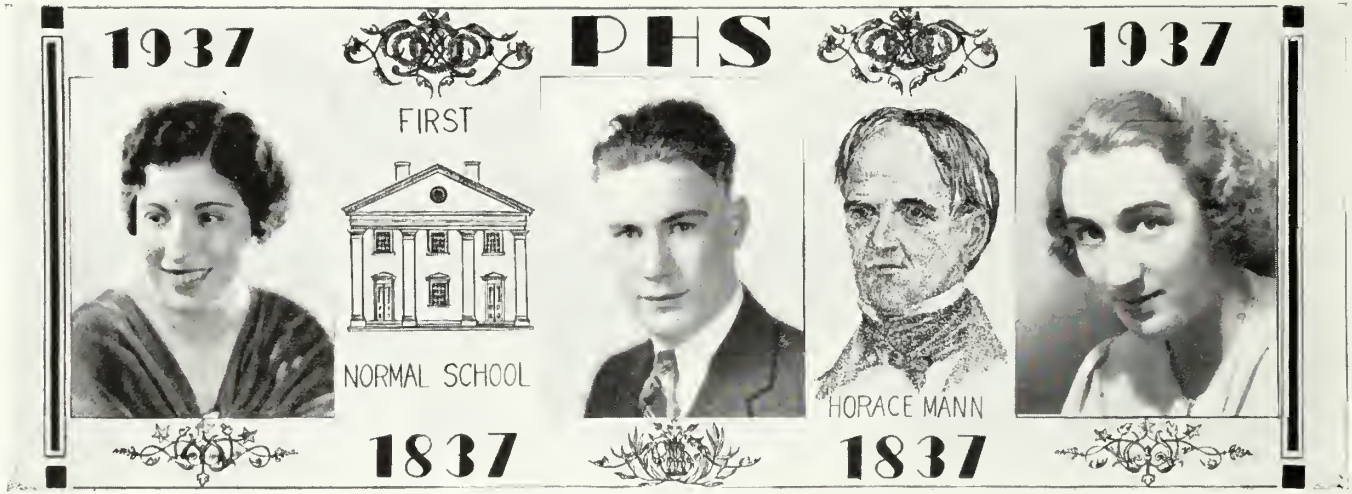
WOMAN'S CLUB

Ambitious, dependable, helpful—all these adjectives bring nobody other than Eileen to our minds. We've found out that she's the kind that will be our friend, come what may. We cannot do her justice in these few words. We feel sure that she will go far on the road to success.

IRVING H. ELLISON

"Still achieving, still pursuing."

Unfailing wit is the characteristic which holds high place in the life of "Irv." He considers no day complete without that slight dash of the salt of the earth—laughter. With his sound common sense and general adaptability, we may harbor no fears for Irving's future.



MELINDA J. ESPINDLE

"Genial her smile as summer sun."

SPANISH CLUB

Here is a girl who has an excellent sense of humor, a lass who will need little help in attaining the goal to which she aspires. With her many excellent qualities, "Millie" is sure to achieve her desired standing—as a beautician. Let us watch her climb!

PHILIP P. FALKINGHAM

"He filled a niche, though silent,
And made his presence felt."

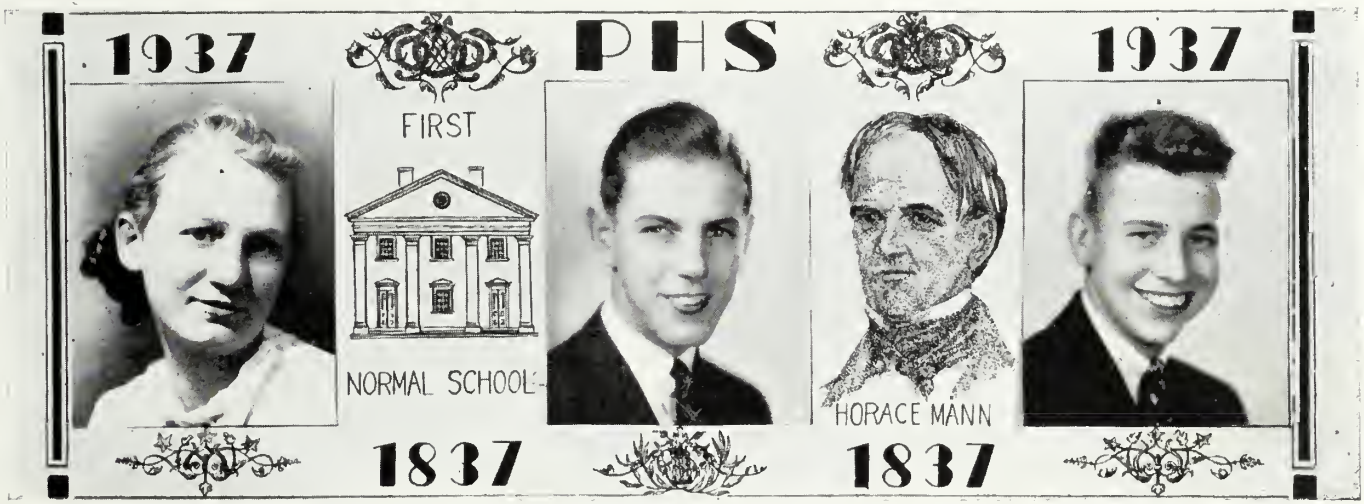
SPANISH CLUB META STAFF
STRAND NIGHT

No more apt quotation than the above is to be found to describe the place "Phil" has held among us. Day after day he has gone about his business, never thrusting himself forward, yet always ready and eager to lend a helping hand. It is unnecessary to add that he has the best wishes of every member of '37.

ARLINE A. FISCHER

"In action faithful, and in honor clear."

Quiet and unpretending is Arline, but she'll get along. A staunch and loyal friends to all who know her, she especially likes to be in plays or entertainments. She is also an outdoor girl—always going places on her bike. Good luck in the future, Arline, from all your friends.



BERTHA E. FISCHER

"Good dispositions win good friends."

META STAFF

Bertha is one of those West Peabody girls who "went to town" four short years ago. She has made many friends among us and we admire her cheerful disposition and good nature. We know she will "make good" and be a credit to our class.

ROBERT K. FLACHBART

"A man for the ages."

OBSERVER STAFF META STAFF

A dapper young man is "Bobby," whose well-dressed nonchalance is at once the envy and pride of every member of '37. His cheerful grin and his cheery wave as he rides merrily along in his auto, we will miss greatly in the days to come. It is in the fates that "Bob" will achieve much in the years that lie ahead.

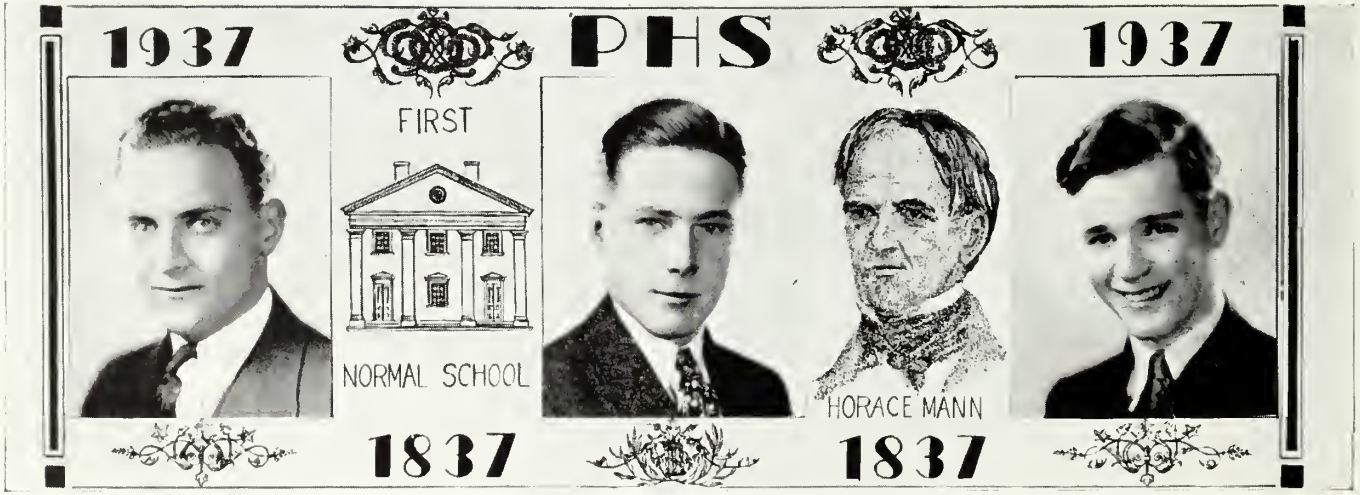
THOMAS H. FLYNN

"He is a man's man."

META STAFF SCIENCE CLUB

FOOTBALL

Gay, happy-go-lucky "T o m m y." Sadly will the undergraduate watch his going. During his four years in high school, he has carved himself a niche in the heart of almost every student and teacher. Into whatever profession "Tommy" goes, after graduation, we know that he will attain the fruits of success.



MAX FREEDSON

"A quiet smile with a cheery 'Hello'."

EXECUTIVE, JUNIOR TRAFFIC SQUAD

TREASURER, SENIOR FOOTBALL

SPORTS FELLOWSHIP

Our Senior Class Treasurer is a very likable chap, a happy-go-lucky lad, constantly on the alert and always jovial. Perhaps his outstanding accomplishment during his years with us was his expert handling of the financial affairs of our class during senior year.

JOHN J. GALLAGHER

"A quick smile is better than a long frown."

GLEE CLUB TRAFFIC SQUAD

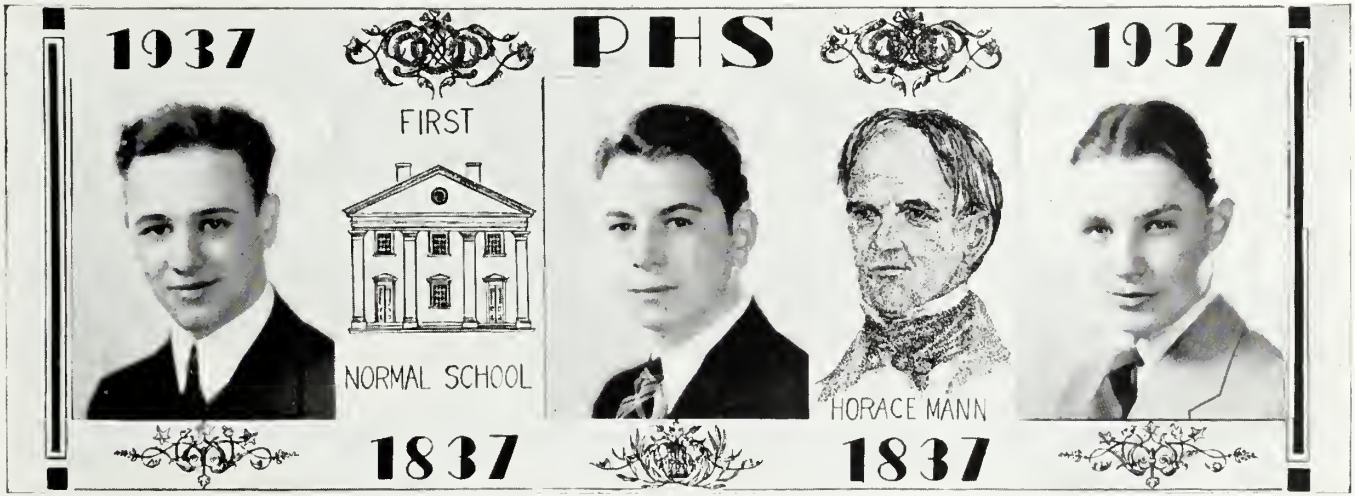
STRAND NIGHT FOOTBALL

Of course we all know "Jack," our congenial friend so bountifully blessed by Dame Nature with six feet of vim, vigor and vitality. He has done just a little more than his share in making our four years of high school life memorable. Best of luck, "Jack." We're wishing you the best.

ROBERT A. GAUDETTE

"I'll not be bound by any man."

"Bob" seems to be everybody's friend in that he is never slow to offer his services to help even the casual acquaintance. This friendliness, coupled with other admirable qualities, will, we confidently expect, win for this "pal" of ours, a success that will be well merited.



CHARLES J. GEORGE

"A merry heart doth good like a medicine."

SCIENCE CLUB

Although apparently very quiet, this son of '37 has a very lively sense of humor and a winning smile that have won for him many true friends among his mates. Conscientious, energetic, determined, "Charlie," we are told, hopes to blaze new trails in the field of aviation. May his flights all have happy landings!

LIONEL M. GILL

"To one alone my thoughts arise."

FOOTBALL SPANISH CLUB

BASEBALL

SPORTS FELLOWSHIP CLUB

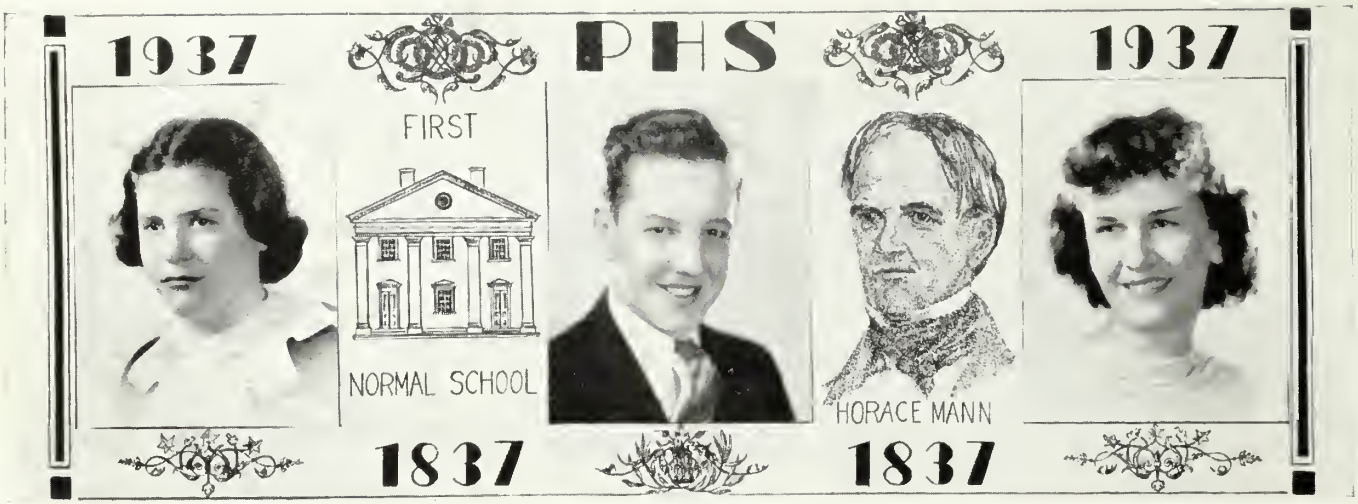
Carefree and humorous—these adjectives well describe "Leo." Who among us have not at some time or another benefited from his contagious wit? He can also spin a fine tale, and woe be unto the victim he decided to convince! With these qualities he should go far.

MICHAEL GNESS

"A jolly good fellow was he."

TRAFFIC SQUAD

Heigh-ho and cheerio. I say, do you know "Mickey?" You bet we do. His good humor has surrounded him with a large group of friends. Mickey is one of our up-and-coming newspapermen. His daily news has become an important contribution in Room 102.



ROSE GOLD

"Smooth runs the water where the brook is deep."

META STAFF

One could hardly be the least bit gloomy while in Rose's company. Her good nature certainly has added to the brightness of our school life. Rose might at first appear quiet, but after knowing her for four years, we find her a most congenial companion.

WARREN B. GOODRIDGE, JR.

"Diligence is his."

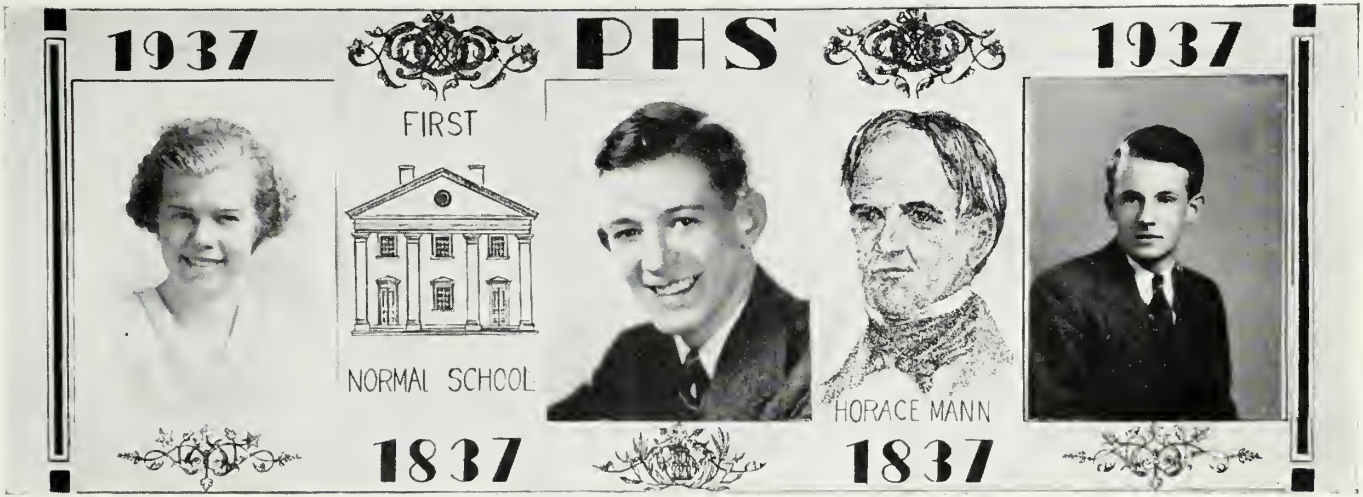
"Buddy" has decided to go into a profession which would make others shudder. He wishes to be a mortician. With his calm, courageous, and persevering qualities, "Buddy" will be Peabody's next No. 1 undertaker. We wish you loads of success "Buddy" for you deserve it.

EVELYN A. GREEN

"Contentment constitutes true riches."

SPANISH CLUB

Evelyn is one of the lucky members of '37 who has realized fully upon her four years of high school. Attentive, courteous, with charm and personality in abundance, Evelyn, we are confident, will do well for herself in the years that lie ahead.



BURNETTE E. HALLOWELL

"She has a smile for every friend."

SPANISH CLUB BATON SQUAD

Burnette is a very modest and quiet young lady in a classroom. She has a sincere and pleasant nature which has won her many friends while she has been with us. Best of luck to Burnette in the interesting and happy and successful years that lie ahead.

ROBERT V. HAMILTON

"For he was of a quiet kind
Whose natures never vary."

BASKETBALL
SPORTS FELLOWSHIP CLUB

Unassuming, shy, yet fun-loving—all these and more, help to describe "Bob." He has a pleasing personality, which has won him an enviable position among us. We feel sure that he will succeed in whatever he undertakes. Good luck to you, "Bob."

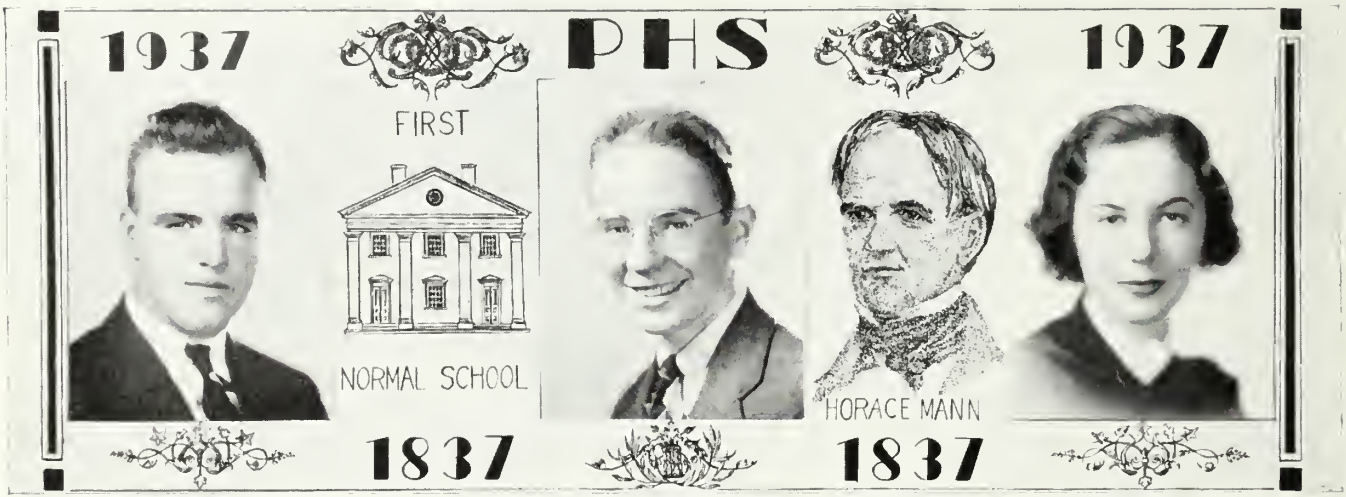
THOMAS D. HANLEY

"Humor is the favorite drink of genius."

SCIENCE CLUB TRAFFIC SQUAD

BASEBALL

We can scarcely realize that four long years have gone on their way since "Tom" came into our midst. His carefree witticisms have done much to brighten many a dull hour and if he continues his career in this manner, he cannot fail.



JAMES F. HENRY

"Whatever you do, do it well."

FOOTBALL

SPORTS FELLOWSHIP CLUB

As he has shown repeatedly on the football field, James is a true, fighting son of Erin. We are inclined to think that the bellicose characteristic coupled with his keen Irish humor will serve their purpose in the attainment of his aspirations.

THOMAS F. HENRY

"What is life, but to live?"

META STAFF TRAFFIC SQUAD

GLEE CLUB CLASS BASKETBALL

Here we have a lad who promises much in a literary way for the near future. In addition to this ability, "Tom" possesses a spark of wit which ignites at frequent intervals, and will some day burst into flame. We'll miss you, "Tom."

TESSY HIOTIS

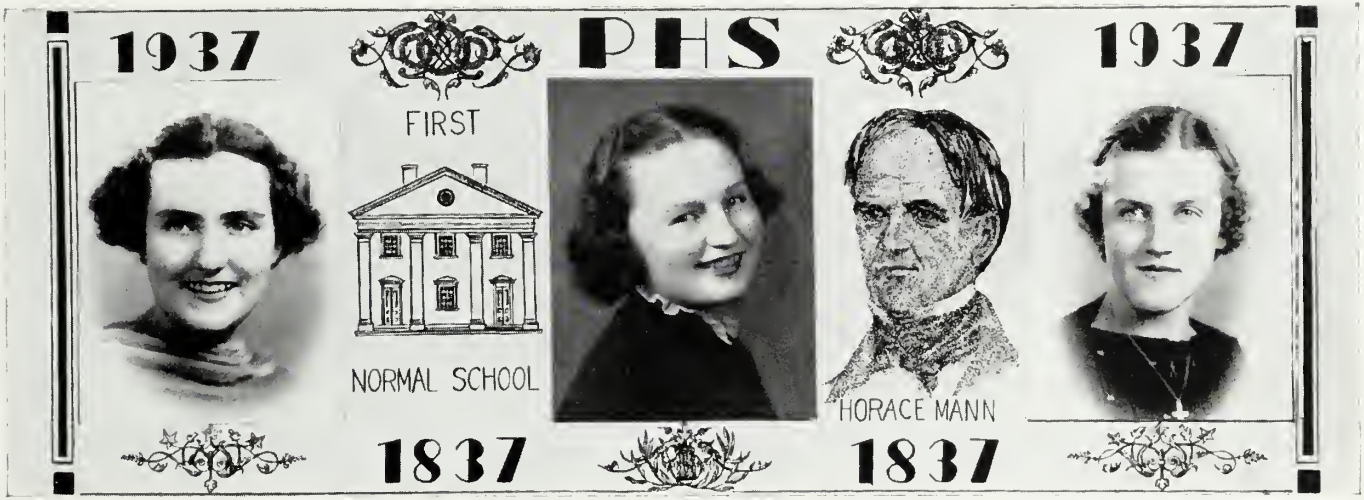
"Since brevity is the soul of wit, I will be brief."

VARSITY BASKETBALL

GIRLS' HOCKEY TEAM

META STAFF

In her four years among us Tessy has proved herself to be a loyal and devoted friend. She is a witty, carefree girl, who majors in athletics. Wherever there is fun and laughter you are sure to find her. May your success be easy to attain, Tess.



BERNICE E. HOURIHAN

"Diligence is the mother of success."

META STAFF HONOR STUDENT

Bernice came to us from St. John's Parochial in her senior year and those of us who were fortunate enough to make her acquaintance consider her a very amiable person. Judging by her attitude toward her studies, we feel certain Bernice will be successful in whatever field she chooses.

ELEANOR G. HOURIHAN

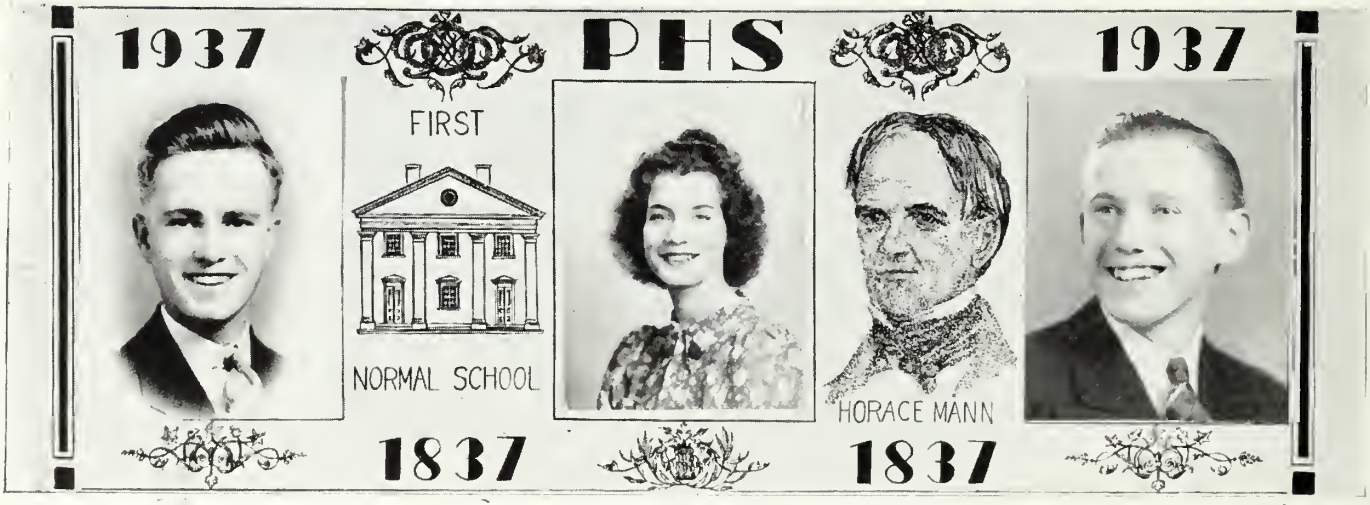
"Deft fingers, guided by a clever brain."

Charming, demure Eleanor has made many friends during her four-year stay here, although she is one of the quietest students of the Peabody High School. Some day in the near future we will find our Eleanor acting as private secretary to some lucky business executive. Good luck, Eleanor!

GENEVIEVE C. HUBISZ

"Not buxom, but blithe and debonair."

An extremely pleasing disposition has won for Genevieve a host of friends among the members of our class. At times very quiet, this charming lass has proved on many occasion that she has that persistence and initiative that is so valuable in the business world for which she is so well prepared.



CHARLES B. HUNTRESS, Jr.

"Efficiency is the keynote of success."

META STAFF DRUM MAJOR
SCHOOL PLAY ORCHESTRA
SCIENCE CLUB

A mere glance at the activities of "Charlie" will at once convince you that he played no inconspicuous part in the life of our school and our class. His many talents will unquestionably win for him a large share of success. Good luck!

HELEN M. HUSSEY

"Success is the reward of labor."

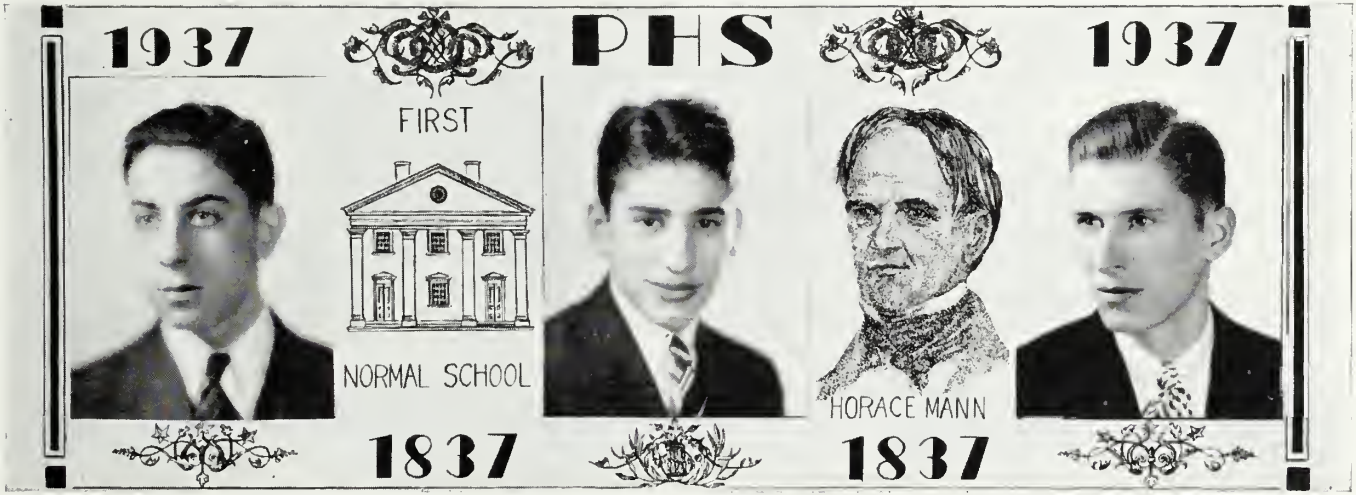
SCIENCE CLUB GLEE CLUB

No introduction to Helen is necessary for her beaming smile and pleasing personality have won her many friends during the past four years. Each and every one of us regrets seeing her leave our midst. In all sincerity we wish her success and happiness for the future.

MICHAEL KALINOWSKY

"A merry heart makes a cheerful countenance."

Michael is not one to make himself conspicuous. Rather serious in manner, he has that quality which makes him well liked and assures his friends of his dependability. He has the best wishes of the class for success in whatever he may choose to do.



GEORGE A. KALIVAS

"A lad of mettle, a good fellow."

Perhaps the outstanding characteristic of George is his ever-present willingness to please. For four years he has continued in that quiet, reserved manner of his to do the things which were helpful, to speak the thoughts that were best said, and to leave unsaid the things that might have brought hurt to someone. Best o' luck, George!

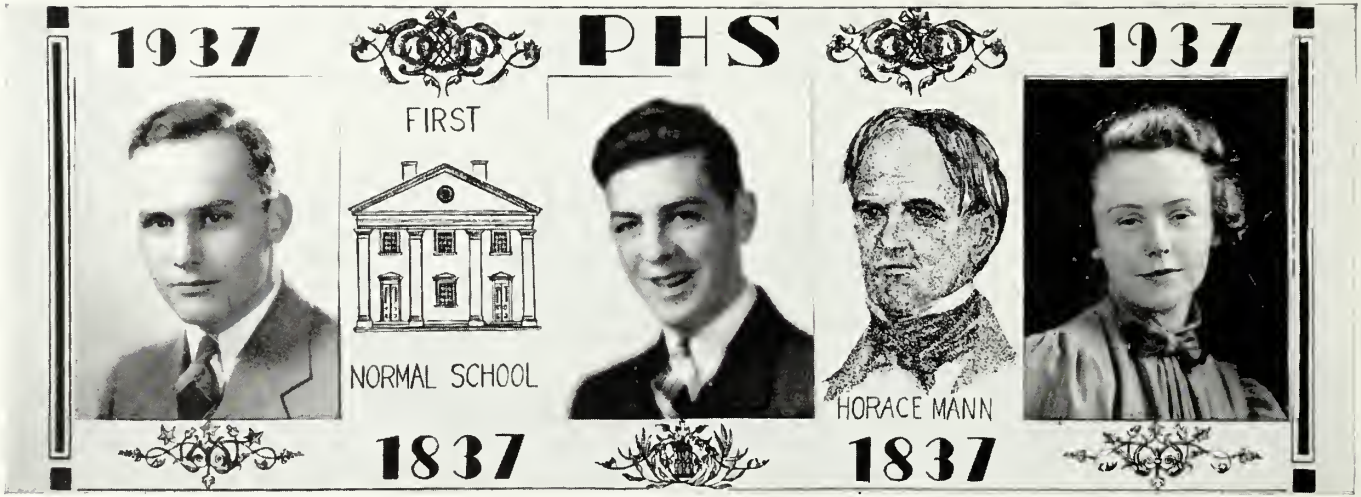
SPANISH CLUB

If you've been in P. H. S. these past few years, you've known "Charlie." He was here, there and everywhere, always in the midst of an argument, or taking some inconspicuous part in a mischevious prank. The problems of an industrial age will not daunt "Charlie."



PETER KASTANKO

"There's much of sterling stuff within him
Which stress or strain will serve to bring forth."

BASKETBALL CAPTAIN GOLF

BASEBALL SPORTS FELLOWSHIP

The basketball team, as well as his classmates, will certainly miss this lad next year. "Pete" was one of Peabody's stalwarts on the offence of the brilliant basketball team. With his aggressiveness and initiative he will without doubt be as capable a leader in the future as he has been in the past.

THOMAS W. KEILTY

"Happy am I, from care I'm free,

DEBATING CLUB STRAND NIGHT

SCIENCE CLUB

Though we dislike to argue with the great men of past ages, "Tom's" coming into our midst has caused us to change that old saying to "Presence makes the heart grow fonder." We will always remember "Tom" as a ready and willing friend. He has not only been active in social functions, but also in the classroom. We all join in wishing him "good luck."

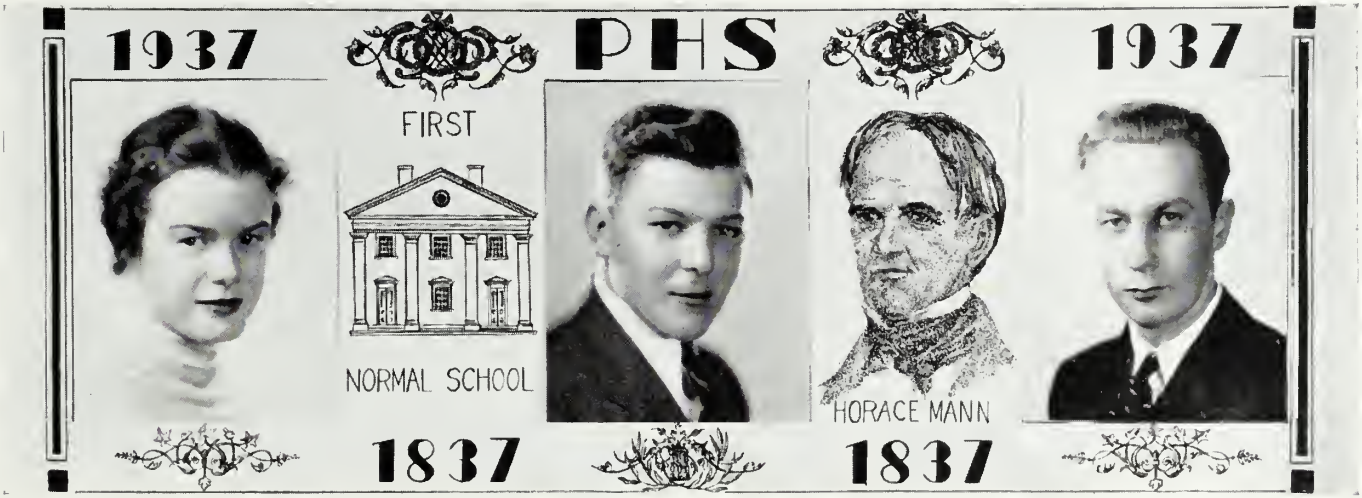
RUTH M. KENALEY

"A light heart lives long."

WOMAN'S CLUB DEBATING CLUB

GLEE CLUB

Cheerful, generous, vivacious, good-natured and fun-loving are but a few of the adjectives that might be applied to this red-headed miss. Acquiring friends is one of her easiest tasks. During the past four years she has been most active in both sports and social activities. Surely, numbered among those to succeed is "Ruthie."



LOIS A. KING

"Aim high, aim high, your target the sky."

WOMAN'S CLUB TRAFFIC SQUAD

Lois is one of the well-liked members of our class. Her cordial greeting and infectious smile have brightened many of our hearts. Sincerity is one of her many pleasant characteristics as we have all found out. May she always have happiness and success.

GEORGE H. KLINE

"Round and round he goes; and where he stops, nobody knows."

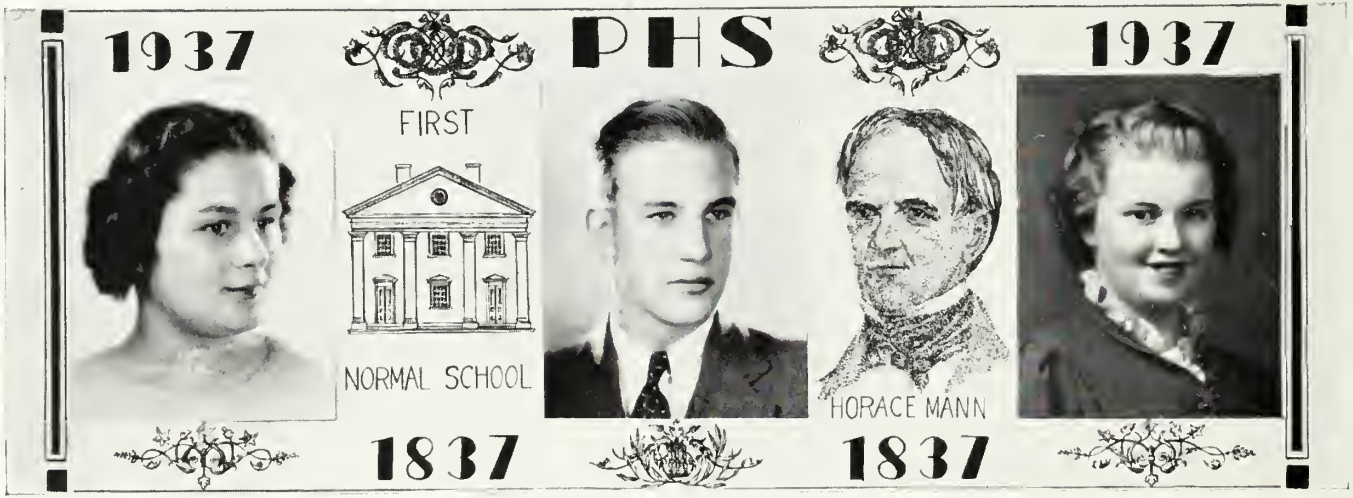
FOOTBALL SPORTS FELLOWSHIP

George was one of our football men who throughout the years has shown first of all that he is a firm believer in the principles of good sportsmanship. Although not a member of the first team, George could always be depended upon for his best efforts. A likeable character, all in all, and one who will in future years accomplish much.

WILLIAM W. KOLHONEN

"Nothing is impossible to a willing heart."

Who does not know "Bill" with his quiet, friendly manner? His pleasant smile is ever present, ready to greet his many acquaintances. Although apparently very reserved in manner, he can join in with the fun and chatter as whole-heartedly as anyone. May he always have good luck and success!



ANNE KORTINUK

"Honor, reward, and distinction come,
To loyalty and service and skill."

GIRLS' BASKETBALL CHEER LEADER

WOMAN'S CLUB

MANAGER, GIRLS' BASKETBALL

A true athlete and a loyal friend—that is Anne! We cannot praise her too highly, for she is a favorite with us all. She has made a well-known name for herself in the field of sports. Three rousing cheers for Anne, and the best of luck!

STANLEY W. KOZISKI

"Merit is worthier than fame."

SCIENCE CLUB STRAND NIGHT

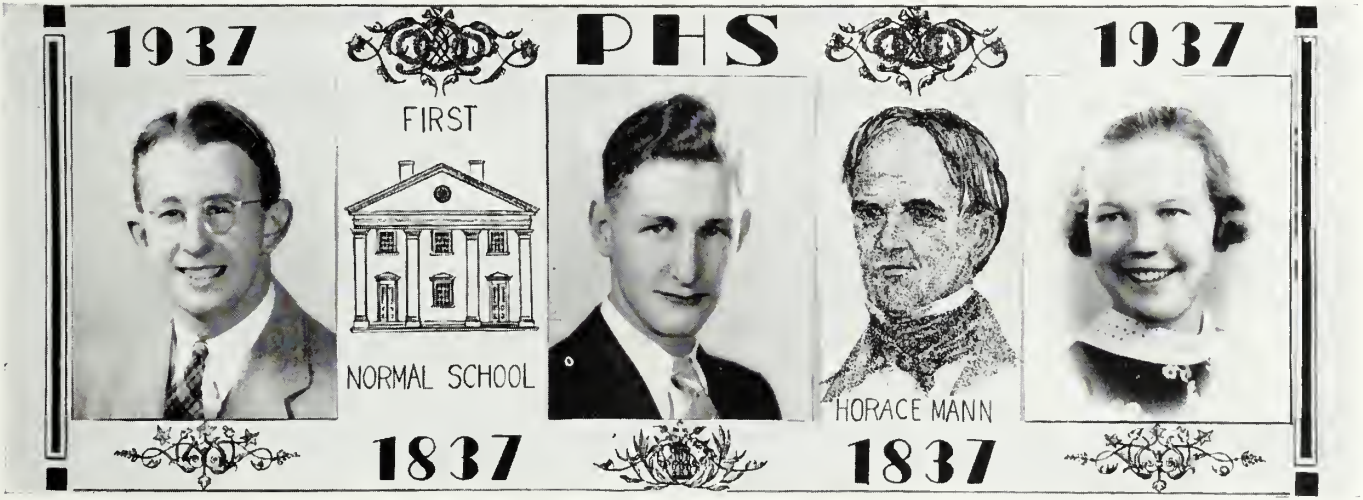
Stanley did not win an honor part, but his High School record is one of which to be proud. Cheery, amiable and ambitious are the adjectives which best describe him. He is a model student and his disposition has won for him a large circle of friends. The class of '37 expects to hear great things of "Stan" in the future.

DOROTHY O. KRANKA

"They also serve who only stand and wait."

SCIENCE CLUB JUNIOR RED CROSS

We will always remember "Dot" as one of our very quiet and reserved classmates. Nevertheless her quiet and studious appearance conceals a merry nature. We feel sure "Dot" will make a name for herself as one of the most efficient stenographers in the business world.



FRANK S. KULEZA

"Men of few words are best."

FOOTBALL BASEBALL

SCIENCE CLUB

Frank has proved himself to be one of the best athletes in the class, shining brightly on both the diamond and gridiron. He doesn't possess a great deal of oratorical ability, which is just a different way of saying he's oftener seen than heard. But then, when occasion demands, he speaks plenty. Good luck, Frank.

EDWARD J. KUVA

"Good nature is the rarest of all gifts."

META STAFF FOOTBALL

SENIOR CLASS EXECUTIVE

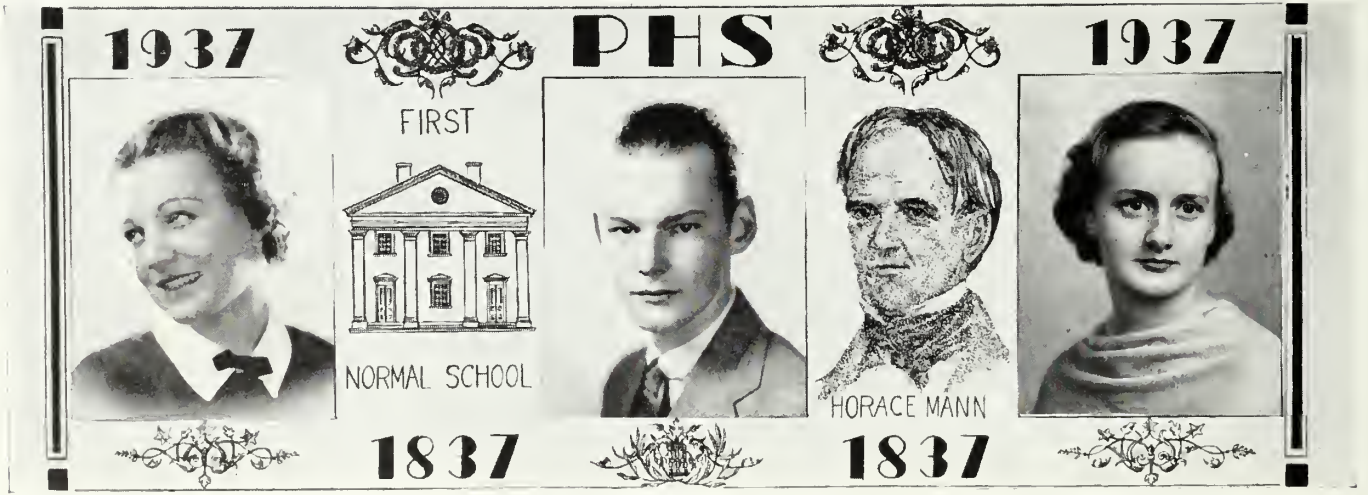
BASKETBALL BASEBALL

Three simple words describe "Ed," "a great fellow." He would be an asset on any football, basketball or baseball team, for good natured and jolly, he is liked by all. As a member of our Executive Committee, he has worked hard. With his personality and charm he is sure to succeed in all his undertakings.

ANNE E. LAITINEN

"Thoughtful and wise, she goes her way."

Anne, with her quiet nature and innate modesty, has won a permanent spot in the affections of her classmates. Her simplicity of manner is enhanced by a pleasing disposition which cannot help but win the affection of those with whom she comes in contact. Anne has the well wishes of every member of '37; we, who know her well, are confident that she will win success.



ANNA J. LASTIC

"So happy, blithe and gay."

META STAFF

Need we introduce Anna? Certainly not! No one can mistake that smile or those laughing eyes. Her graceful dancing is the keynote to Anna's popularity . . . 'cause she's got rhythm. Among her priceless possessions are a pleasing disposition and a cheerful manner. Best wishes, Anna!

ROBERT E. LECAIN

"As firm and as solid as the ground on which he walks."

BASEBALL

"Bob" is a standout as a baseball player and if we wished to predict the future, we might easily visualize this lad making a name for himself on the diamond. Always pleasant, always agreeable, "Bob" in almost any field which he sees fit to choose, will reflect credit upon himself and win for himself and his class no small measure of renown.

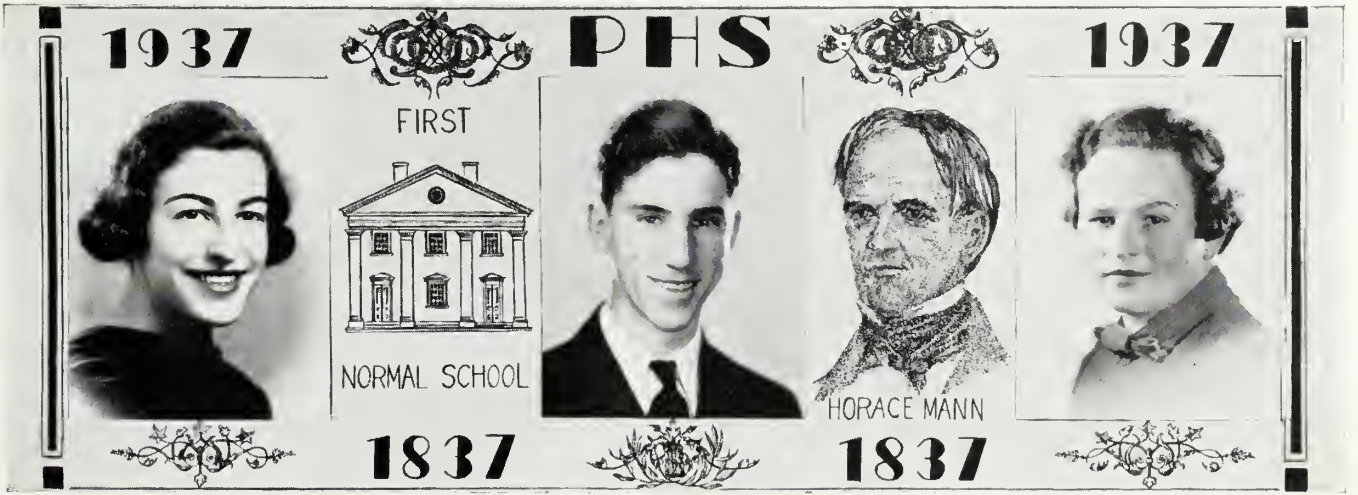
JOAN M. LEES

"Good nature and good sense must ever join"

VALEDICTORIAN META STAFF

OBSERVER STAFF WOMAN'S CLUB

Speaking of scholastic luminaries, we take considerable pleasure in presenting Joan. By no means a believer in "all work and no play," Joan took an active part in many of our activities, both social and literary. To prophesy success for one so capable and so talented, would indeed be superfluous.



MARY LEFAS

"Your reward is a cheery smile."

SPANISH CLUB

A good student, but not a "grind," Mary can always find time for a laugh and a frolic with any of her numerous friends. With not a hint of conceit or selfishness in her make-up, Mary is at all times ready to be friendly and helpful. The business world will be richer for the coming of this smiling daughter of '37.

EDWARD J. LEONARD

"All great and extraordinary actions come from the heart."

SCIENCE CLUB BASKETBALL

BASEBALL SPORTS FELLOWSHIP

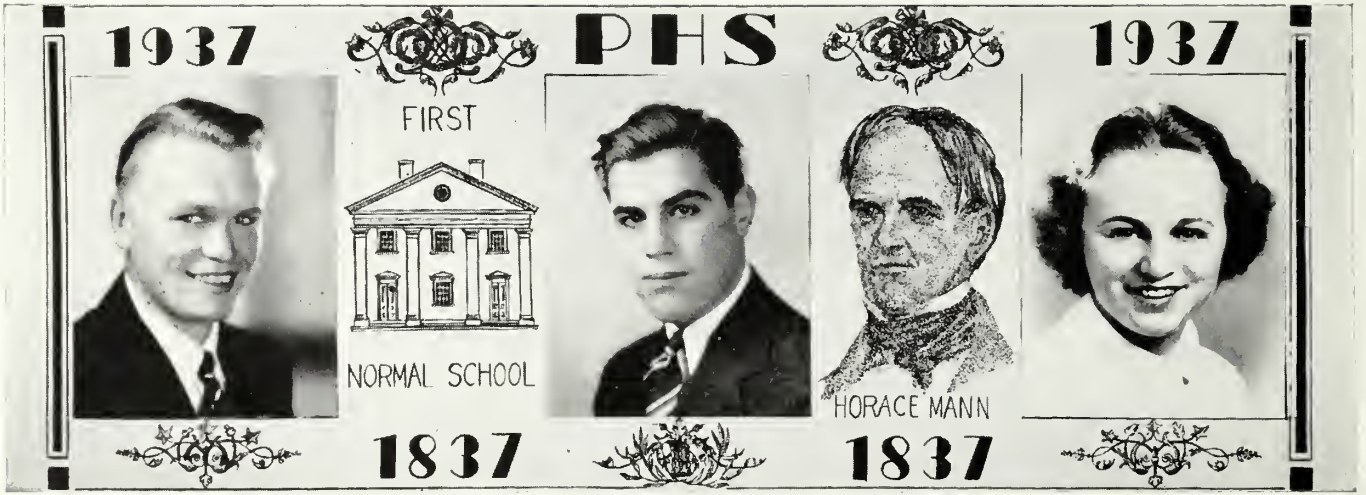
Certainly no one will ever forget "Eddie's" ability on the diamond and the basketball court. He has left an outstanding record in the memories of all his classmates. What more can we say than that we wish him all the success in whatever field he enters.

IDA LERNER

"Long lives the merry heart
That lives by night and day."

DEBATING CLUB GLEE CLUB

With her smiling good nature and jovial personality, Ida actually radiates mirth and joy. Seldom seen without that characteristic smile of hers, Ida is one whom we shall not soon forget. We have the utmost confidence in the success of Ida, one of the jolliest members of our class.



ROBERT LINDGREN

"The unspoken word never does harm.'"

CO-CAPTAIN, BASEBALL

"Bob" is not a seeker of limelight. He says very little, thinks a great deal, and does much. His record as a baseball player is indeed enviable. "Bob" does not gather about himself a noisy group of companions; rather he chooses to limit himself to a few real "Pals."

JAMES A. LOBAO

"A good disposition is more valuable than gold."

SPANISH CLUB ORCHESTRA

Although "Steve" is another of our very quiet classmates, he has won for himself many friends by his courteous conduct and friendly nature. His ambitious nature and his alert mind we are confident will lead him to worthwhile achievement in any field he sees fit to enter.

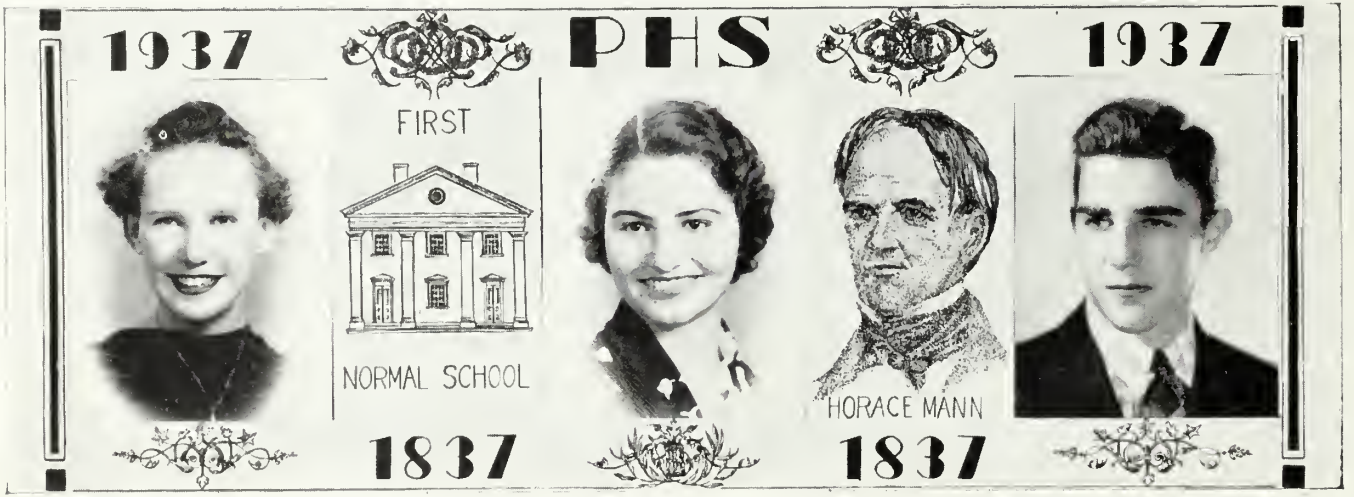
DOROTHY A. MANNING

"Her winning ways made her the life of the party."

JUNIOR RED CROSS WOMAN'S CLUB

DEBATING CLUB

"Dottie" came to us only this year from Salem High, but that didn't prejudice us, for she quickly proved herself a loyal Peabody rooter. With her magnetic personality she soon became one of our most popular members. She aspires, they tell us, to become a dancing teacher; as such, she will reach success.



ANNA MAY MANNIX

"To be amiable is most certainly a virtue."

META STAFF GIRLS' BASKETBALL

CHEER LEADER PEP SQUAD

Have you ever heard Anna May's hearty laughter which immediately sets everyone about her in a gay mood? Cheerful, vivacious, friendly, Anna May is the very personification of "Pep" with a capital "P." She proved herself to be one of the real basketball stars in the best Peabody tradition.

EVA MANOLAKIS

"She who tries hardest, usually succeeds."

SPANISH CLUB GLEE CLUB

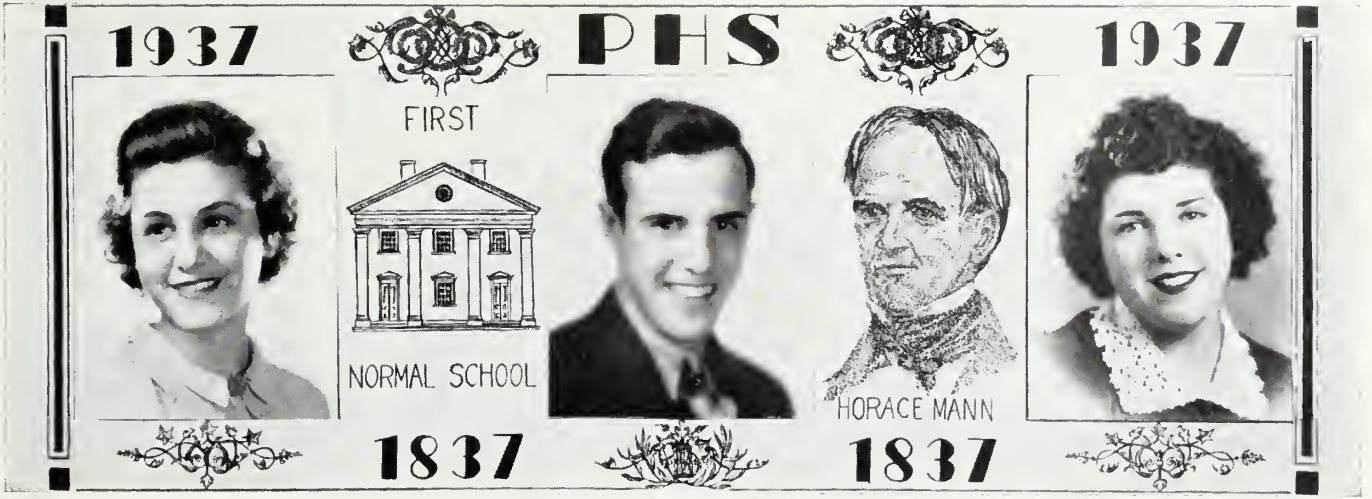
In Eva we have one of our most efficient typists. She is an excellent student and an all-around good sport. There is no doubt as to Eva's success in the business world for her pleasant manner, thoughtfulness, resourcefulness, and initiative make failure out of the question. The best of everything to you, Eva!

HAROLD MARON

"It is well to be jolly and wise."

BASKETBALL SPORTS FELLOWSHIP

This quotation aptly describes "Hank," for he has proved himself as brilliant as he is jovial. His ready smile and quick wit have made many a bright day for us. He is an all-round athlete although he excelled in basketball. We wish you luck, "Hank," in whatever you attempt.



IDA R. MARSHALL

"Ever carefree — always gay."

SCIENCE CLUB TRAFFIC SQUAD

PRESIDENT, SPANISH CLUB GLEE CLUB

As long as we have known Ida, her company has been enjoyed and her friendship appreciated. Although usually happy-go-lucky, Ida can be serious when the occasion demands. Her ability to make friends, and keep them, in addition to her sunny disposition, prove that she is worthy of all the success her classmates wish her.

LOUIS MARSHALL

"I weigh the man, not his title."

SCIENCE CLUB FOOTBALL

SPORTS FELLOWSHIP

To know "Louis" is to like him, and if we are to judge from the number of those who like him, there are many indeed who know him well. His sterling qualities of mind and heart will undoubtedly win for him his full measure of success in the world beyond his high school days.

RUTH M. MARSHALL

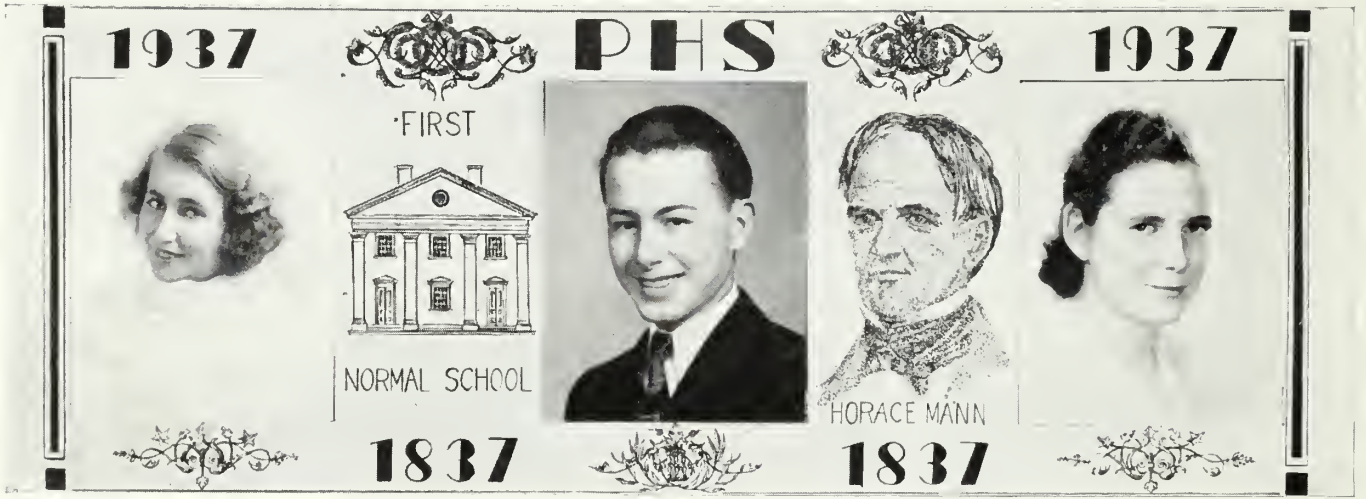
"Gaiety and light heart, the best medicine for all."

SCIENCE CLUB GLEE CLUB

SECRETARY OF SPANISH CLUB

ORCHESTRA

Ruth is one of the girls in our class who have a cheerful disposition and a friendly spirit. A jolly vivacity and a willingness to help her classmates made her a favorite among us all. We shall always remember Ruth as one of our truest friends and we extend to her our sincere desire that she attain the success she deserves.



ELEANOR L. MASSEY

"I'll ever be merry and gay."

GIRLS' BASKETBALL LUNCH COUNTER

Gay, irresponsible Eleanor has certainly brightened life's duller moments at P. H. S. We always depended on Eleanor's carefree personality to supply the ever-desirable element of humor, in all our associations. We fondly trust that her sunny philosophy of life will lead to success in her chosen field.

DAVID P. McCARTHY

"Flying High."

SCIENCE CLUB BASKETBALL

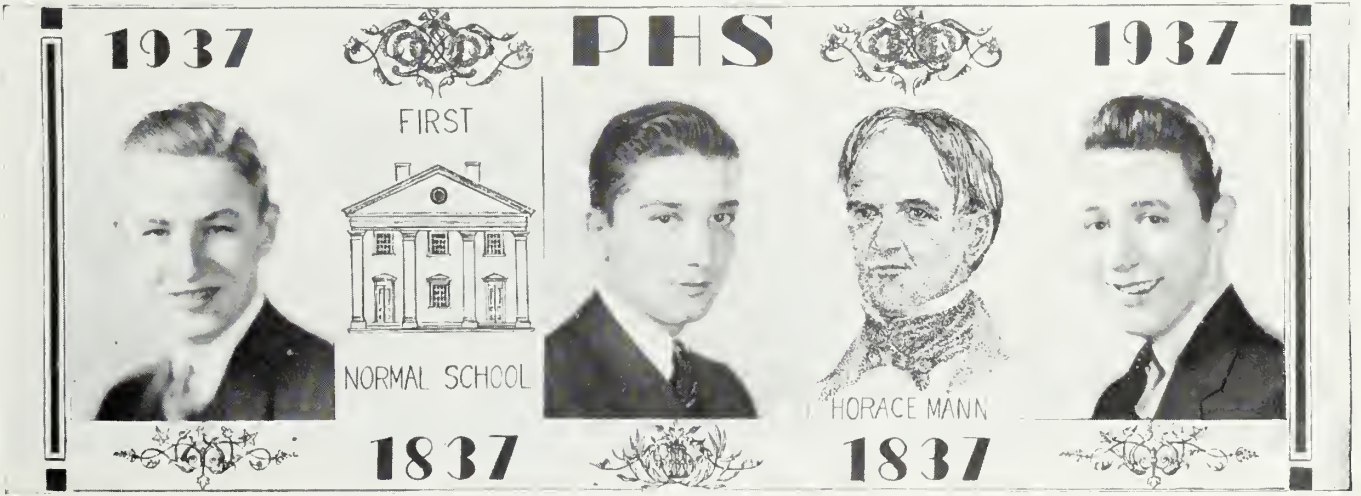
To fly high is "Dave's" desire. In later years, perhaps, every front page of a newspaper will portray this young man with the broad grin of some sort of record breaker. We wish you a trunk load of good wishes, and a bag of good luck, "Dave."

MARY S. McCARTHY

"Her only fault is she has no fault."

SPANISH CLUB

Mary's sweet disposition has won her many friends during her years with us. We feel sure that she will succeed by just being herself. Don't forget Mary, to hold on to that little something which you possess, and which makes everyone admire you.



LEIGHTON H. McOSKER

"Your world is what you make it."

SCIENCE CLUB GOLF TEAM

TRAFFIC SQUAD

Although "Leight" has not played a very prominent part in our lighter social activities, he has more than made up for this minor deficiency by his merry attitude toward life in general, which attitude has brightened our stay here at P. H. S. As a golfer he is close to "tops." Who can tell? A future Bobby Jones?

LOUIS METAXATOS

"Ever studious and quiet."

To mere acquaintances "Louie" appears to be too solemn and studious to be interesting, but when you get to know him he's amusing and friendly. He is proficient in his school work, giving studies the proper attention, but he isn't a bookworm. He believes in and practices the proper balance between work and play.

HARRY A. MILLSTEIN

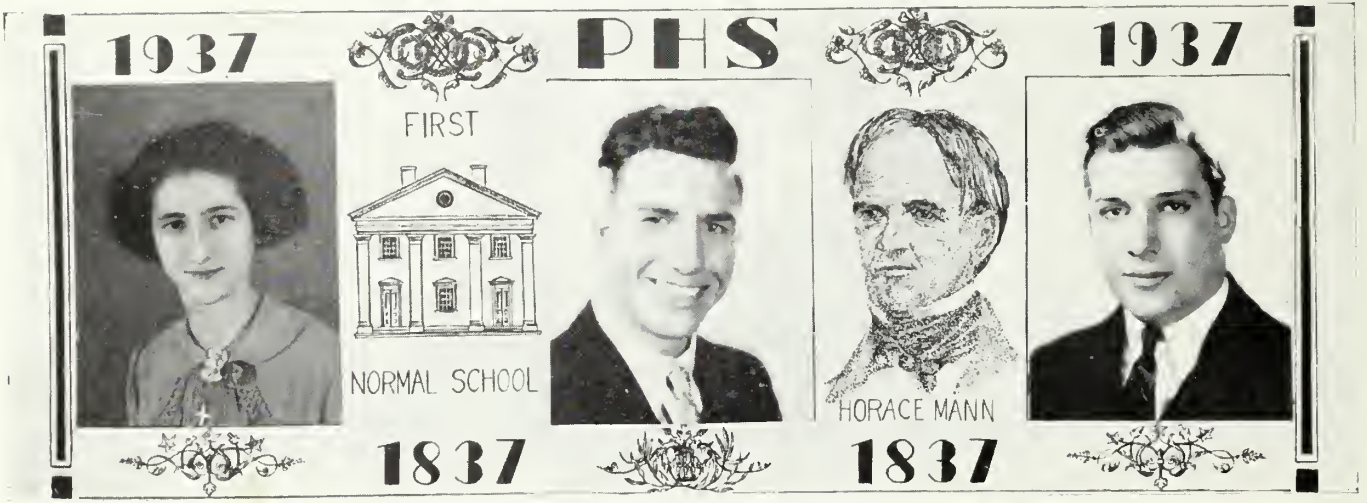
"Men judge us by the success of our efforts."

GLEE CLUB BASEBALL

FOOTBALL MANAGER

SPORT FELLOWSHIP

"Pop" is certainly a very jovial fellow. There is hardly a moment in which he cannot be seen sporting a wide smile. "Pop" has proved himself to be very capable in the art of managing school sports activities. May you succeed "Pop" in your future managerial duties.



GEORGIA MIRAGOS

"Just a mite, with mighty winning ways."

GYM MEET

Georgia is one more of our jolly classmates who believe in facing life with smiles and then more smiles. Wherever you meet this lass, you'll find happiness and laughter aplenty.. Her cheery disposition will unquestionably win for her a place in the hearts of those who are fortunate enough to cross her path in future days.

ALFRED T. MISTRETTA

"Merit is worthier than fame."

DEBATING CLUB BASEBALL

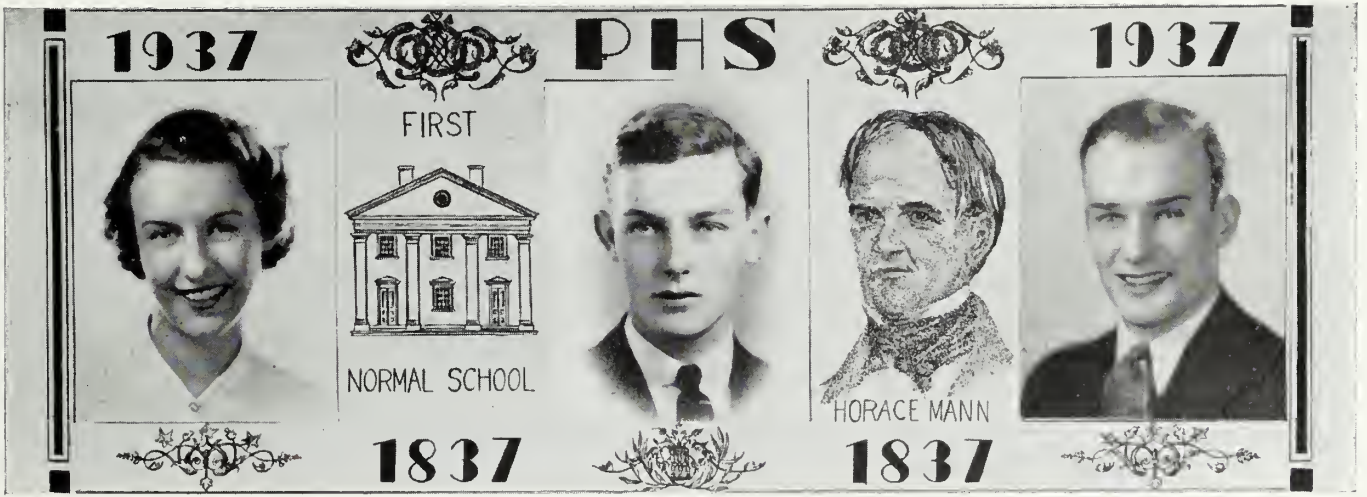
Alfred belongs to that category of students who diligently go about their own business and yet are most willing to take part in any activity. Whenever there is work to be done, you may look to "Al" for effective help. Surely our class affairs wouldn't have been successful without his presence either in the checkroom or behind the refreshment stand or in some other capacity.

JOSEPH G. MOGAVERO

"He has merit, good nature and integrity."

FOOTBALL

Perhaps the outstanding contribution of "Joe" was the part he played in the football successes of the "Blue and White." Along with his athletic prowess "Joe" has many other excellent powers that augur well for his future. The members of '37 wish you well, "Joe," and hope to celebrate with you the achievements that will be yours.



AGNES M. MOZER

"She tells you gladly what her mind is."

META STAFF — SCHOOL PLAY

HONOR STUDENT

Cheerful, gay and vivacious, this is Agnes. Her sunny smile and consistent cheerfulness will be remembered by the Senior Class even after we part. Agnes is the friend of everyone she meets, for her mirth, laughter and general happiness make her a pleasing person to know.

ROBERT E. MUNZ

"True worth is in being, not seeming."

META STAFF — SCIENCE CLUB

TRAFFIC SQUAD — STRAND NIGHT

GOLF TEAM

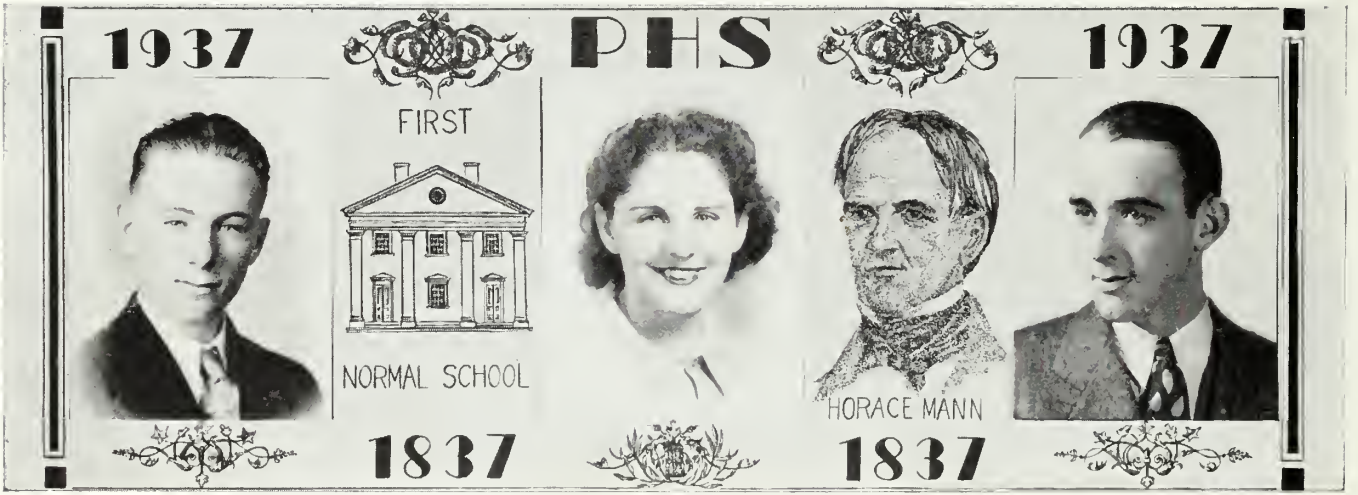
No, folks, this is not Robert Taylor of motion picture fame, it is our "Bobby." Tall, dark and the possessor of "curly locks," he seems to be every girl's ideal, but somehow "Bobby" can't see it. He has high ideas. In fact, he aspires to pilot some great transport plane someday. We wish you luck, "Bob."

CARL A. NEWHALL

"Hear much; speak little."

TRACK TEAM — SPANISH CLUB

Carl is a fellow classmate who has always been willing to contribute his bit in every project. Rather artistically inclined, his posters have been seen advertising every affair. Considerate, helpful, and a bit humorous —here you have Carl in a few words. Good luck! Health! Wealth! Success!



HUGH NOONAN

"The play's the thing."

SCHOOL PLAY

Hugh spent only one year with us, coming during our senior year after completing his course at St. Mary's in Lynn. Although quiet of manner, Hugh very quickly became one of us, winning our friendship by his very pleasing manner. We only wish he had joined us sooner.

DORIS M. O'CONNOR

"Good nature is an element of success."

Although "Dot" did not always play the most prominent part in our activities she never failed to do at least her share in contributing to our various projects. The fact that she is well known and well liked by those of us fortunate enough to know her well, indicates to us that good things are in store for her in future days.

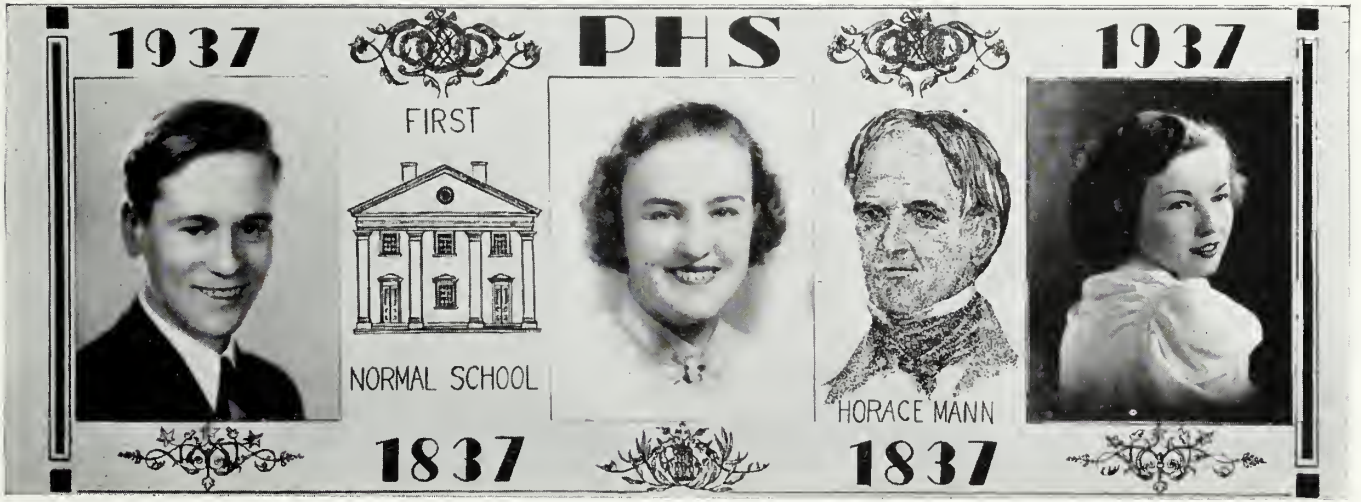
JOHN W. O'HARA

"For he's a jolly good fellow."

TRAINER OF ALL SPORTS

SPORTS FELLOWSHIP

"Doc" as he has been nicknamed by his friends is one of the most conscientious and dependable seniors to graduate this year. He has never spared himself when there was a chance to help another. He is bound to succeed and he has our good wishes.



JAMES J. O'LEARY

"Though bound his tongue by bands of of silence,
His eye did wander far and wide."

BASKETBALL

"Jimmy" is one of those reserved individuals, who keep most of their thoughts to themselves. To his classmates who really know him he is a very enjoyable companion and loyal friend. May good luck always shine upon him in his every venture.

MARY D. O'NEIL

"Wisdom shineth like a candle through the darkness."

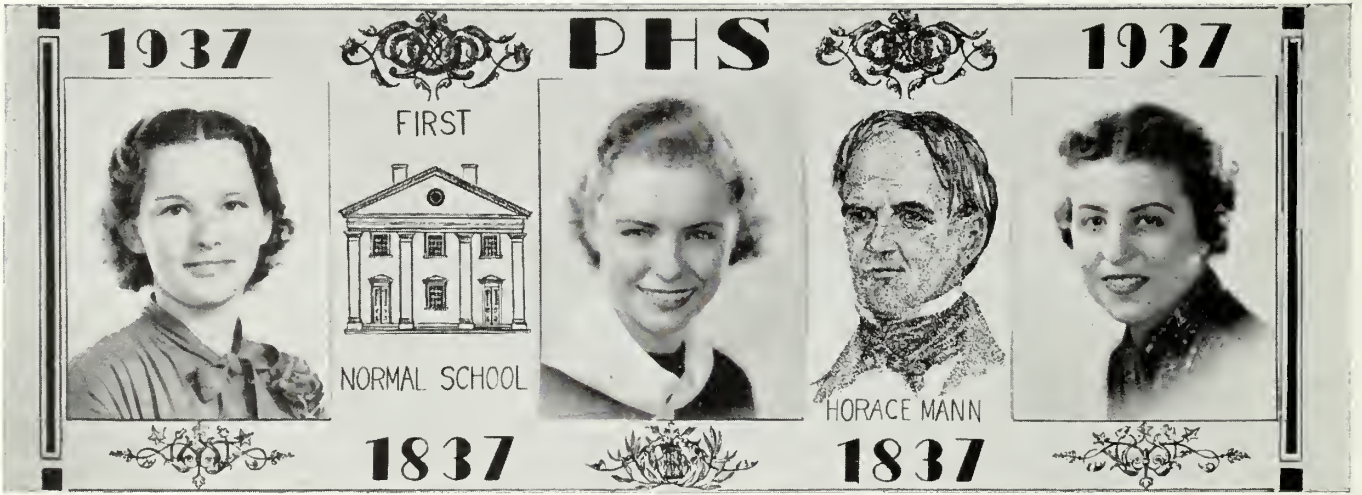
FIELD HOCKEY

Calm, serene, conscientious, Mary has all of these characteristics and more. Coming to us in her junior year from St. John's High, she proceeded at once to win the hearts of those with whom she came in contact. With her outstanding qualities of mind and heart, Mary will win a high place in the years to come.

IRENE M. OSGOOD

"Quiet, steadfast and demure."

Efficiency, they say, is the keynote of success. If this be so, there can be no fear for Irene's future. As a stenographer, Irene is par excellence. We will congratulate the fortunate big business man who is lucky enough to number this lass among his employees.



MARGARET L. OSGOOD

"Give us the girl whose happy life is one perpetual grin."

"Margie" has not taken an active part in any particular activity during her High School career, but she is known to all and endeared to all. Always smiling, she prances down the corridors, bothered by nothing. just happy to be alive. The corridors will not be quite the same without her cheery "Hyar—." She has hopes of being a stenographer.

RUTH B. PAGE

"Ready in heart, ready in hand."

META STAFF STRAND NIGHT

SECRETARY, SENIOR CLASS

WOMAN'S CLUB BATON SQUAD

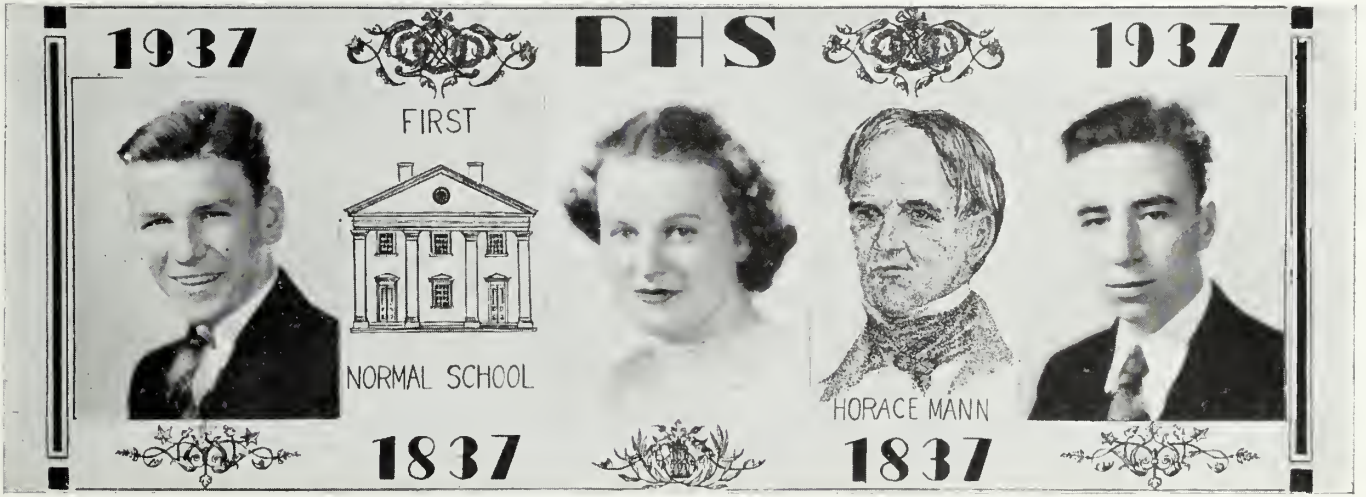
This popular senior is sure to go far in her chosen field. Ruth has already proved her executive ability as secretary of the Senior Class. Her reputation as a clever baton twirler is indeed enviable. Ruth is a charming combination of beauty, brains and personality.

LEAH PAPPAS

"Contentment is natural wealth."

SPANISH CLUB

Blessed with a sunny disposition and a willingness to help, Leah easily won our hearts. Although not prominent in class activities. Leah would have been the first to volunteer advice or help were it needed. Her personality is one which the business world will surely appreciate. With the joy and kindness that is so characteristic of her, we know she will not fail.



LESLIE H. PEARSE

SCIENCE CLUB GIRLS' BASKETBALL
GLEE CLUB WOMAN'S CLUB

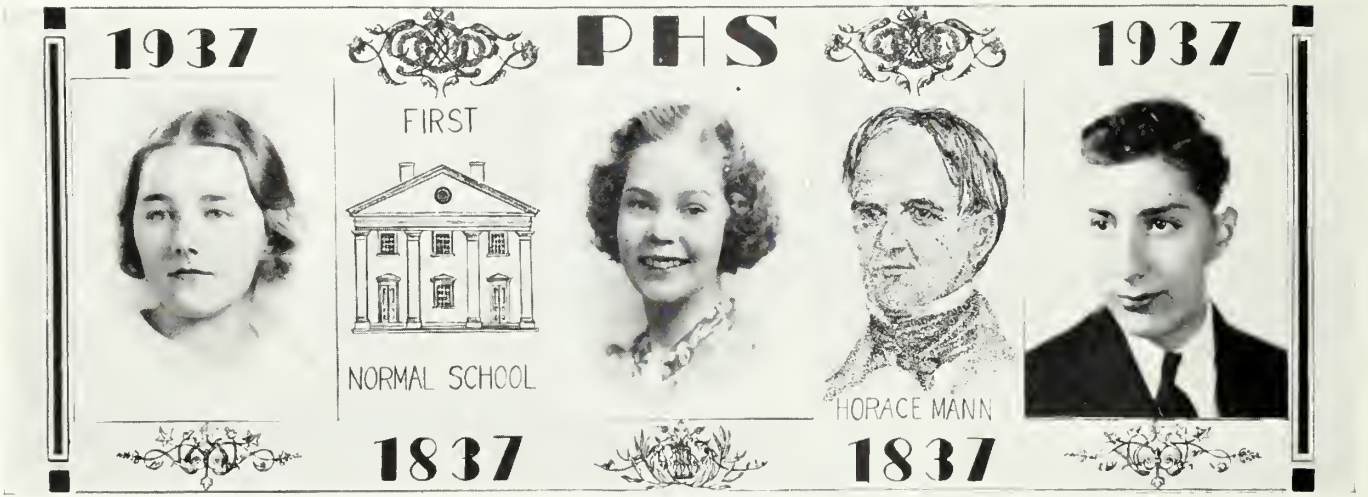
Norma's friendliness and ever apparent good sportsmanship have won her many staunch friends at Peabody High School. Her easy flow of conversation and hearty laughter are the greatest dispensers of gloom. We may feel assured that all her future undertakings will meet with much success.

JOSEPH E. PECHINSKY

"His art was all in all."

META STAFF OBSERVER STAFF

To "Joe" we are indebted for much of the artistic success of our year book. If we are any judge of real talent we are taking no risk in predicting for "Joe" a very bright future in the world of art. We'll then be saying, "I knew him when . . ."



ANNA E. PENTILLA

"A pleasing countenance is a silent recommendation."

META STAFF

Anna has a pleasing, in fact, a very pleasing manner about her. And her smile, that ever-present smile, has been one of the factors in winning for her many friends. The future will be for Anna, we hope, no less sunny than her disposition.

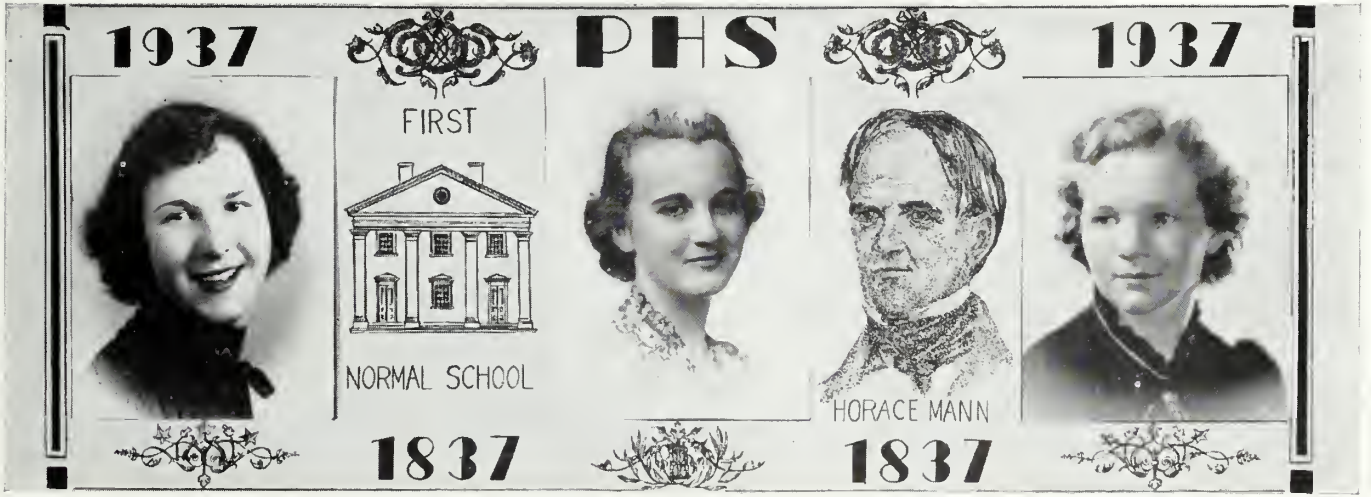
JOHN PERCHEKOS

"I dare do all that may become a man."

FOOTBALL BASKETBALL

In addition to a certain athletic prowess, "Jack" has other qualities that augur well for his future. To us he has been a real "pal," helpful and considerate at all times. We extend to him our best wishes.



JOSEPHINE H. PERFIKOWSKA

"To be amiable is always a virtue."

SPANISH CLUB

"Jo" is everybody's friend, and everybody is "Jo's" friend. There is no member of the Senior Class who has not become extremely fond of her in the past four years. Her bubbling laughter and lively manner have won her many genuine and lasting friendships.

PAULINE M. PERRY

"Great oaks from little acorns grow."

DEBATING CLUB WOMAN'S CLUB

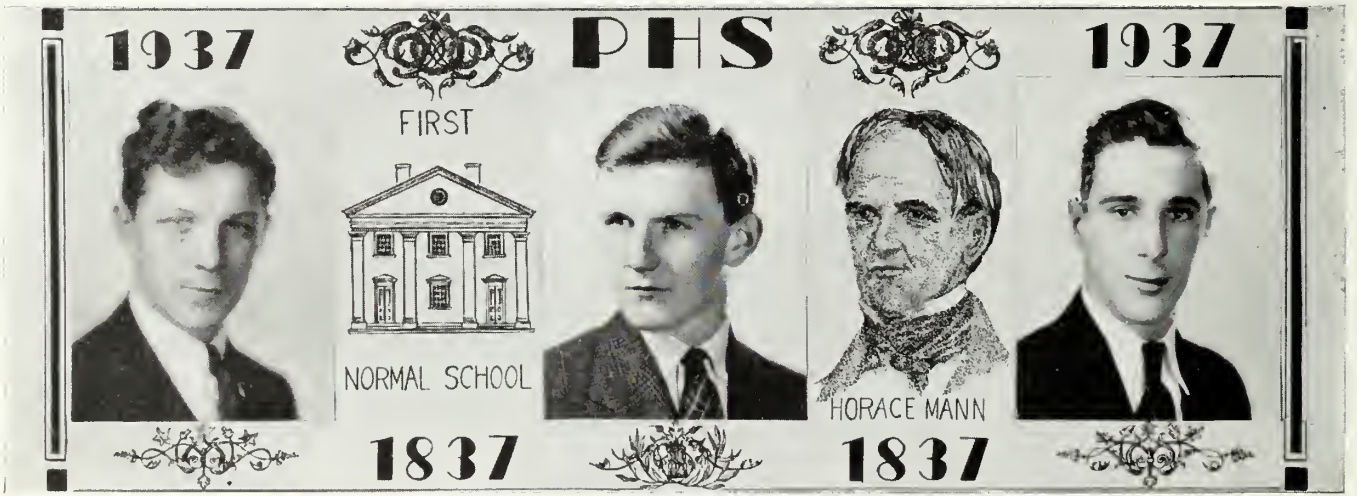
SCIENCE CLUB GLEE CLUB

To the casual observer "Polly" appears quiet and shy, but with those who are privileged to know her well, she is always a gay, witty companion. "Polly" is an accomplished pianist too, but her charming modesty keeps the knowledge of this talent within a limited circle of friends.

HELEN K. PIETRAZAK

"Silent, but very well liked."

This young lady has been silent as to what her ambitions are; but we are sure that with her winning smile and spirit of friendliness, Helen will succeed in her chosen field. In order to gain her desired goal, she needs only to be herself. Good luck, Helen.



MICHAEL S. PIETRAZAK

"To touch victory is intoxicating."

FOOTBALL BASKETBALL

SPORTS FELLOWSHIP

Wise-cracking, fun-loving, we can still see "Mike" hurtling in the air after a forward pass. We don't doubt that he will be another "Larry" Kelley on the gridiron. "Mehow" has that initiative and self-confidence which will carry him towards the goal of his chosen field. Another touchdown for "Mike!"

ROBERT F. QUINN

"His words were oaks in acorns."

FOOTBALL

"Bob" doesn't make a business of football, giving to this sports as to all other sports only reasonable attention. In other words, "Bob" has more serious matters that call for his energies, and to these other activities he devotes himself in that wholehearted way that seems to presage no little success for him in the days to come.

CHESTER O. REDMAN

"My days are joyful; I have my fun,
But only after my work is done."

"Chet" is one of the boys who will always remain dear in our memory. Although he was responsible for many playful pranks, we could count on him as a true friend. "Chet" blended his fun and conscientious study in an invaluable combination which will bring him great success in later life.

MARGUERITE M. REID

"A light heart and a cheery smile endure forever."

SPANISH CLUB — GLEE CLUB

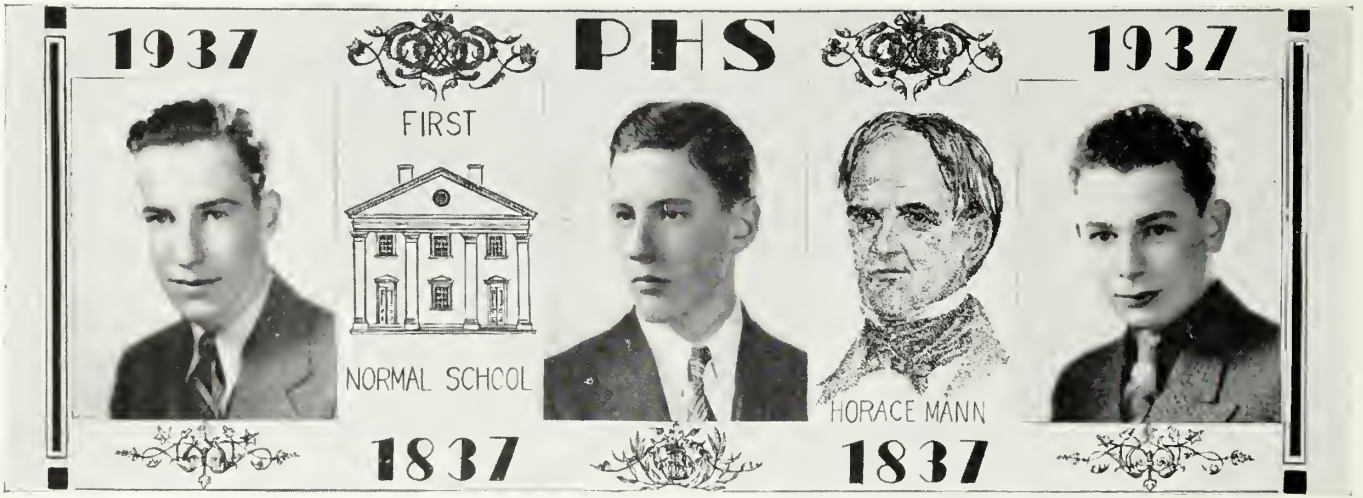
A perpetually sunny smile and cheery greeting, coupled with a multitude of genuine friendships, have endeared Marguerite to our hearts. Her energetic personality is shown in the versatility of her interests while attending P. H. S. May future life gratify all your hopes and aspirations, Marguerite!

JOSEPH F. RING

"Remember how short your span of life is."

Indeed this quotation seems to be the advice of our "Joe." Possessed with a keen sense of humor and a happy-go-lucky nature, "Joe" has gained a great many friends during his High School career. Always full of "pep" and energy, he has spread sunshine on many a rainy day. We, of the class of '37 wish you every success, "Joe."



JOHN T. ROCHE

"Laugh and the world laughs with you."

GLEE CLUB META STAFF

With his grin from ear to ear, "Johnnie" could be detected in a crowd without much difficulty. His ability to meet obstacles with a sunny smile, together with his ambition to succeed, has won for him many friends among the student body. Good luck, "Jack."

JOHN F. RYAN

"Mighty both in words and deeds."

OBSERVER STAFF SCHOOL PLAY

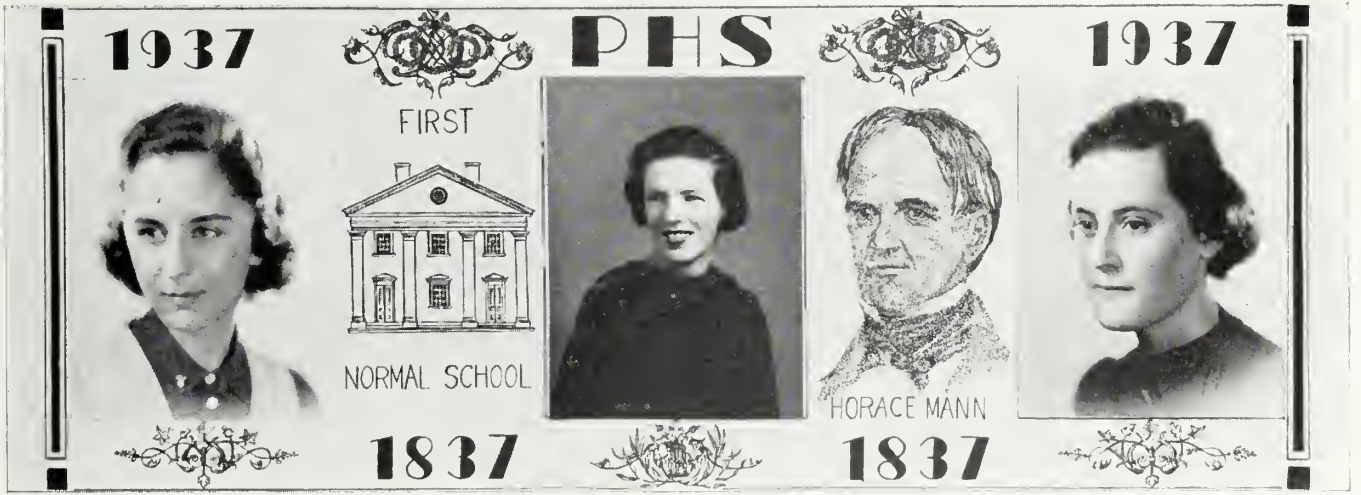
PRESIDENT, DEBATING CLUB

John is the possessor of no little scholastic ability, a genuine sense of humor, and unquestioned power in the winning of friends. In earning a place on our debating teams and on the Observer staff, "Jack" displayed some of the talents which will win for him a high position in the life ahead.

MAURICE H. SALLOWAY

"Kindle the Spark of Hope until it is a roaring fire."

Maurice is a boy who has great hopes about his future, and he is the kind who doesn't let some slight adversity change him from his course. A friend to all who know him, Maurice will make his plans for the future, knowing that he has the ability to succeed.



GOLFFO H. SHAMBON

"Good dispositions win good friends."

SCIENCE CLUB GIRLS' BASKETBALL

Although Golffo is quiet and reserved, she has made many friends who are worthy of her companionship. She has already prepared herself well for secretarial work by her brilliant work in the commercial department. Regardless of what career she may finally chose, we feel sure that she will continue to make life happy for others.

CATHERINE V. SHEA

"The foundation of every noble character is sincerity."

Although ever reticent, loyal Catherine has won many friends during her High School career. Her dependability and good nature are the characteristics which have won her way into our hearts. We confidently predict a bright, successful future for our friend and classmate, Catherine.

HELENA G. SHEA

"Though 'tis work to reach the top,
Keep a-goin, never stop."

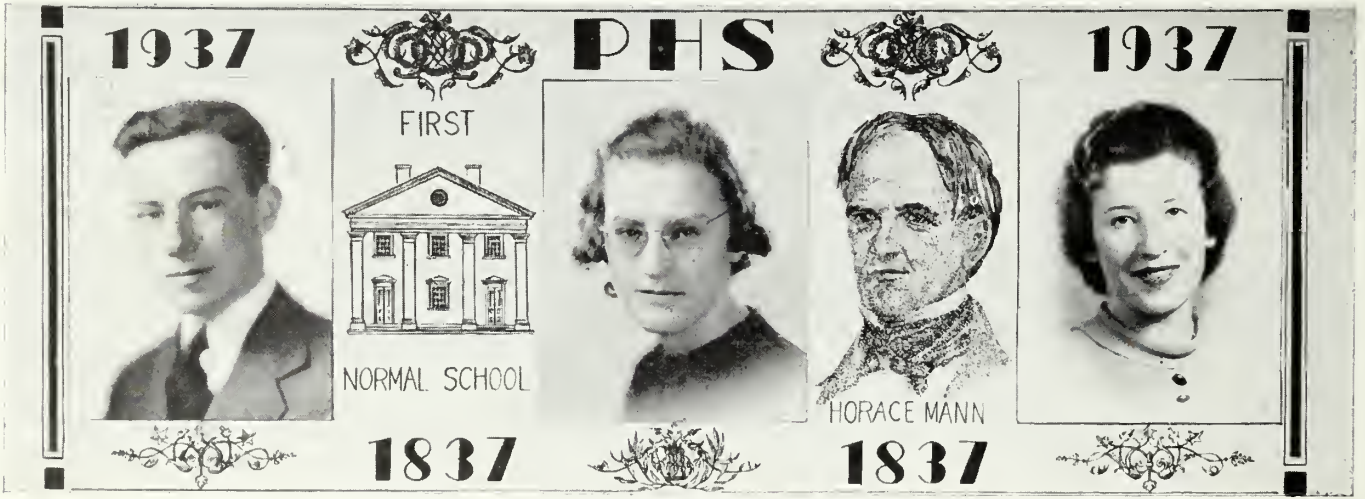
META STAFF HONOR STUDENT

Petite and demure, fittingly describes our Helena. Although small in stature she is great in character. Outwardly she seems very reserved but to her intimates she has proved herself to be a pleasant and entertaining companion. As you travel the rocky road to success Helena, remember the above quotation.



JOHN P. SHEEHY

"Success is the reward of labor."

GOLF TEAM

Meet "Jack" Sheehy, Peabody High's greatest golfer in recent years. "Jack" has faired well on the golf links, bringing home many trophies. He also is an ambitious lad, acting as Mr. Burke's right hand man and handling many transactions in the same capable manner as the faculty manager. Good luck, "Jack" in your future transactions.

EVA L. SHEPHERD

"Friendship is a sheltering tree."

Quiet, reserved in manner, Eva has, nevertheless won the sincere friendship of many of the class of '37. It is our very humble opinion that in her chosen vocation as a teacher of the younger generation, Eva will prove her ability in no uncertain manner. Best wishes, Eva!

DORIS H. SHEVCHUK

"Merit is worthier than fame."

SPANISH CLUB

Her quiet manner and likable ways make Doris dear to her friends and pleasant to acquaintances. She is an excellent student, doing her part without shirking. We'll miss Doris in the future, but we'll think of her and success as going hand in hand.

SPANISH CLUB

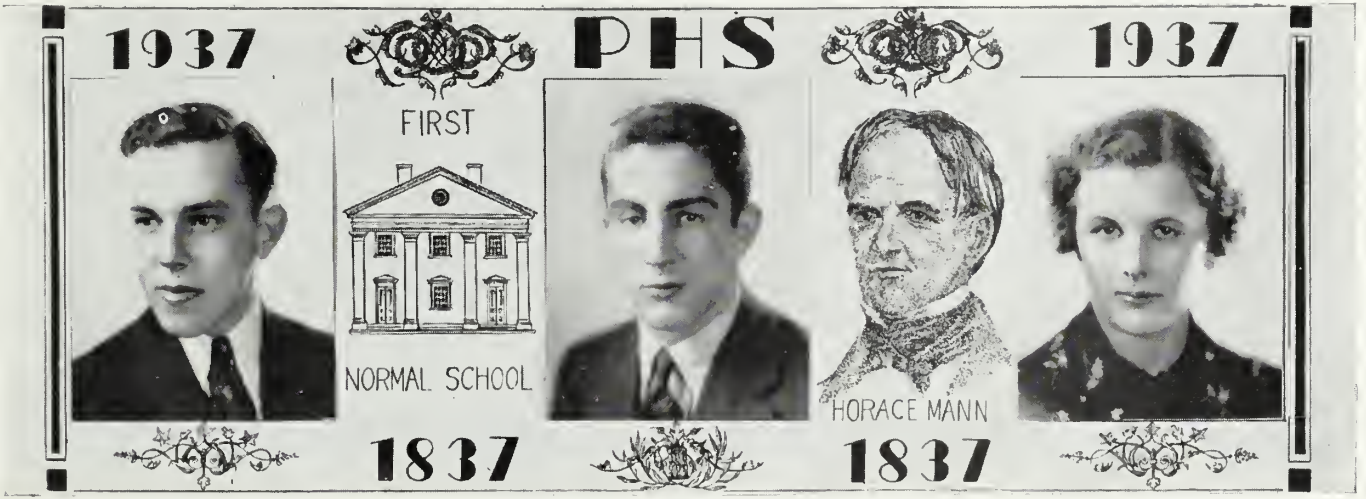
Through these last four years we have spent together, Philip has quietly and industriously wended his way, never wavering, no matter how hard his task. We're sure we will miss his quiet presence in the future, and we wish him well in the success he is sure to enjoy.

JOHN F. SOBUTKA

"The unspoken word never does harm."

SCIENCE CLUB GLEE CLUB

What member of the senior class does not know our tall, arrogant John? Although for the past four years he has been a quiet lad, his presence has always been felt. In the most trying situations you will find John calm, cool, and collected. Perhaps that is one of the reasons so many of us like him. Good luck, John!



WESLEY E. SPENCE

"True friendship is my greatest desire."

SCIENCE CLUB — TRAFFIC SQUAD
STRAND NIGHT — GLEE CLUB
FOOTBALL — BASKETBALL

"Wes" is rather a quiet individual, but his ability to make friends is one of his outstanding characteristics. His ready smile is always there to greet any who might pass his way. The class room would not be the same without him, as he has made all of our studies a pleasure. May your cheerful manner make the road to success smoother for you, "Wes."

WILLIAM A. SPERO

"He had a merry wit,
And was not shy of using it!"

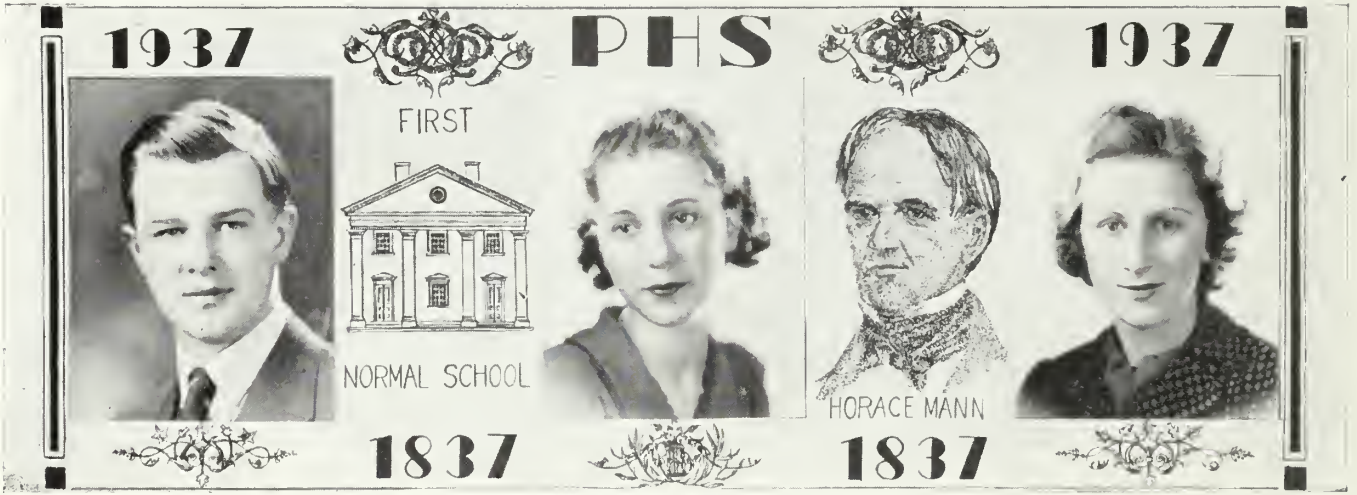
STRAND NIGHT — VARSITY FOOTBALL

Hilarious laughter echoes throughout the building. You're right, it's "Skippy"! What we would have done without this cheerful son of '37, whose genial arguing and jovial disposition are widely famed, is a puzzle. Whoever may be your future companions, "Skippy" may you entertain them as you have us.

ALEXANDRIA M. STANISZEWSKI

"Give thy thoughts no tongue."

Alexandria is one of the quiet members of our class. Those of us who have been privileged to make her acquaintance know of her jolly and pleasing nature. We are confident of Alexandria's success in her chosen work in the world of business.



ARTHUR C. STARBARD

"Silence is one of the virtues of the wise."

"Art" has not taken an active part in any of our social affairs, but he has always been in the background ready to aid in any way he could. No class would be complete without an "Art." His marks speak for themselves. He is a perfect gentleman, respected by all. His success is only a matter of time. Good luck, "Art!"

ESTHER G. STATHOS

"Good Humor is goodness and wisdom combined."

TRAFFIC SQUAD GLEE CLUB

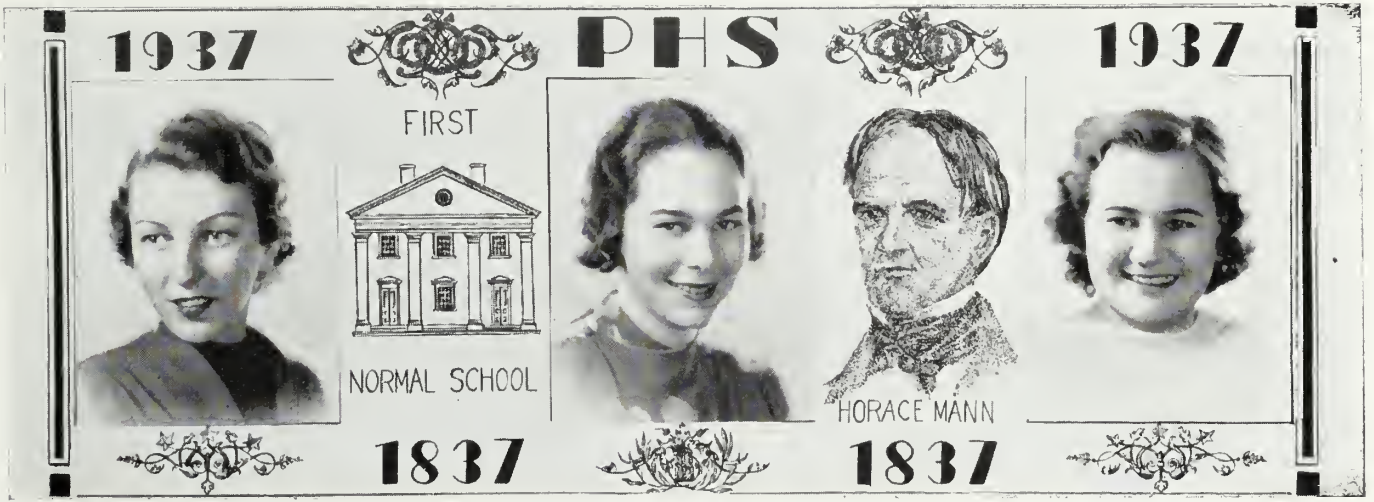
It is not difficult for us to understand how Esther acquired so many true friends for to know her is to love her. She is fortunate enough to be the possessor of a fun-loving and jovial personality combined with no inconsiderable ability. She should be a real aid to any up and coming business man.

ANNE STEPENUCK

"Thy modesty is a candle to thy spirit."

SPANISH CLUB GLEE CLUB

Conservative, sophisticated Anne has acquired many friends during her four years of high school. She is fortunate enough to have that rare combination of brains, beauty and a pleasing personality. We are sorry to see her leave us, but feel assured that she will go far in the commercial world.



MARY A. STEPHENUCK

"What is life but to live?"

SPANISH CLUB

We take great pleasure in introducing Mary, one of the charming members of our Spanish Club. Mary is noted for her natural charm and ability which no one can fail to appreciate. The class of '37 hope all her future undertakings will be as successfull as those of the past four years.

BARBARA M. STICKNEY

"Grace was in her step, heaven in her eye;
In every gesture, dignity and love."

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF, META

GIRLS' BASKETBALL CHEER LEADER

EXECUTIVE OFFICER WOMAN'S CLUB

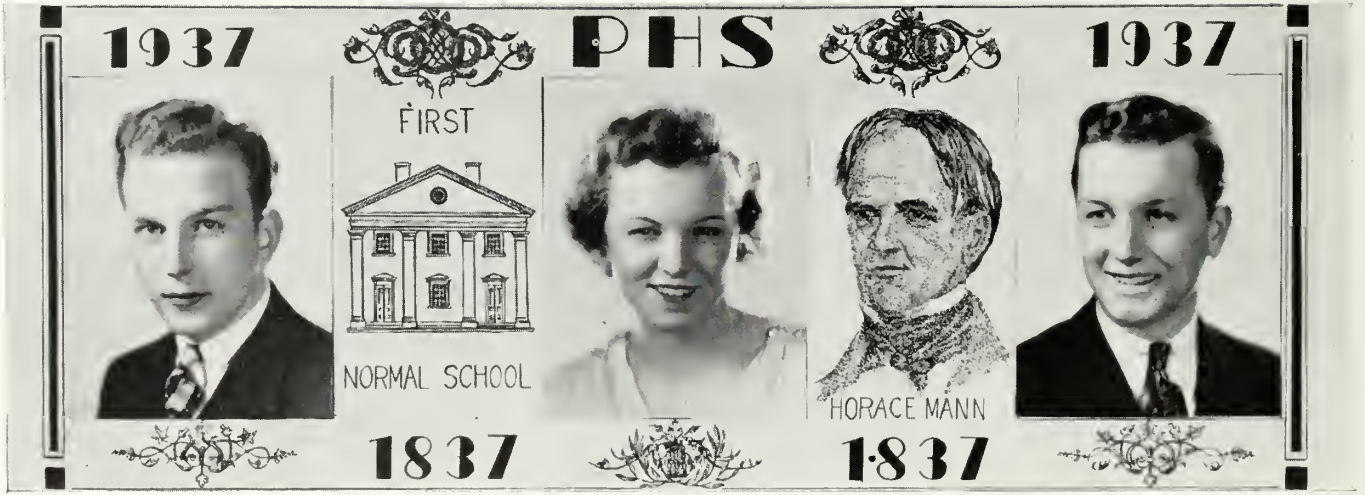
At first glance "Barb" seems a quiet, demure young lady, yet after you have known her a short while, you will find a friend who is always yours. A mere glance at the activities listed for this charming miss will give you a slight idea of the prominent part she played in the success of our class and school activities.

ALICE O. SUDAK

"She had a smile for every friend.
And for every smile a friend."

SPANISH CLUB

Some day in the future when we are thinking about our high school days. Alice's cheery smile will be one of the first pleasant memories we will recall. We bid her farewell and wish her success in the happy fruitful life upon which she is entering.



ALFRED J. SURMAN

"A smile that charms, a personality that engulfs."

SPANISH CLUB FOOTBALL

"Al's" friendly smile and gay manner are familiar characteristics which have won our admiration and esteem. In "Al's" company there could never be a dull moment for he seemed to have an ingenious way of turning even the serious situation into one not quite so solemn. And his voice! May it become even sweeter in the years to come!

CASSIE L. SURMAN

"Come and trip it as you go
On the light fantastic toe."

Let "Casey" dance and she's content. This statement is borne out by the fact that you may find her wherever the terpsichorean art is being practiced. But don't think that there is no more than this to Cassie, for underneath her rather quiet exterior, you will find a personality bubbling over with gaiety and wit. May you dance happily on through life, Cassie!

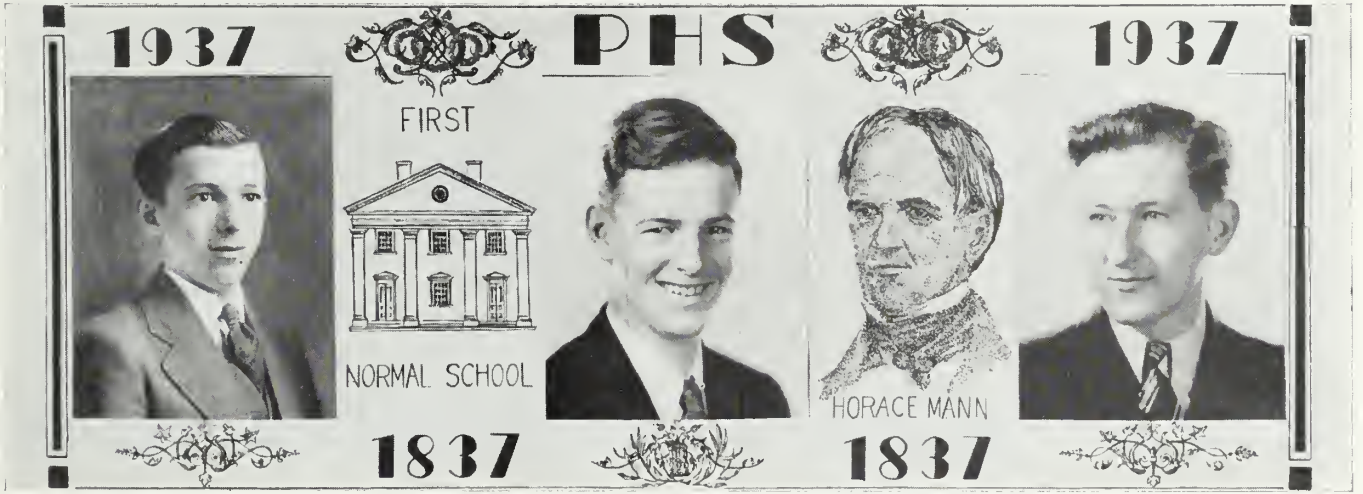
LEON S. SURMAN

"What if it looks like rain, it's fine now."

BASEBALL FOOTBALL

SPORTS FELLOWSHIP

"Poncie," one of our best athletes, has a complete range of muscle control. He can run a broken field of football in the afternoon and dance a graceful step in the evening. Everyone likes Leon, in school, in sport, in everything. We all wish him the "best."



SAMUEL TANZER

"Little men make the best running guards."

STRAND NIGHT DRAMATIC CLUB

"Sammy" is the boy who is always singing and a wonderful voice he has for such a little boy. We feel confident that he will some day be thrilling the hearts of many others with his golden voice. May success, good fortune and happiness be yours always, "Sammy." We are all with you!

EDWARD J. THOMAS

"Mine is a sociable silence."

SCIENCE CLUB

Although "Ed" is a quiet fellow, he has that geniality which makes everyone who knows him his friend. Industrious, willing, sincere, "Ed" has won our confidence and esteem. May his future life be filled with joy and happiness.

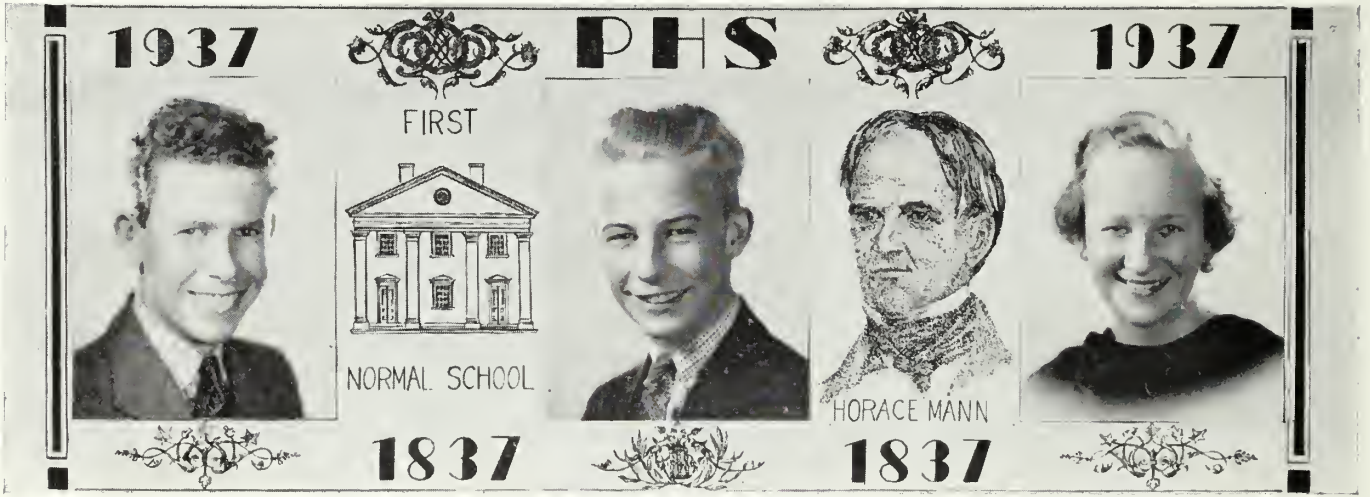
What senior doesn't know and love "Ginna?" Her hearty laughter and constant chatter have made her one of the most popular members of the class. But "Ginna's" school days have not been all laughter and fun. Her work as a member of the executive committee in the past year has been helpful. We know "Ginna" will be as successful in the future as she has been at Peabody High.



THOMAS M. WHITE

"A little work, a little play
Make for me a happy day."

Of all the genial members of our class, "Tommy" is a "standout." In addition to this happy disposition which is most characteristic of him, he has a seriousness of purpose which augurs well for a prosperous future. To "Tom" the class of '37 can wish nothing but the best of everything.

EDWIN E. WILSON

"A little knowledge is a dangerous thing."

This sleek blond youth who causes so many hearts to go pitter-patter is one whose very winning ways are certainly to be admired and imitated. To predict a brilliant future for this happy young man is perhaps to predict the inevitable. He enters upon his new endeavors with our most sincere wishes for his ultimate success.

H. ESTHER WILSON

"A faithful friend is better than gold."

Though of rather a quiet disposition, we find when we become acquainted with Esther, that she possesses a very happy and pleasant personality. Her willingness and friendliness has made her a very valuable member of the class. Modest, ambitious, amiable and cheerful are the adjectives used to describe Esther. "Bob" is that good natured fellow who attained such remarkable heights as captain of the golf team, basketball player and member of the track team. "Bob" is extremely modest, but his ability will not be obscured. He is always a real friend and a jolly companion.

ROGER TRASK

"He who is a friend always has many friends."

"Rog" in the four years we have known him has ever been a considerate and helpful classmate. Although he was not one to seek the limelight at any of our class activities, he was ever ready to assist in any project he deemed worth while. With him go our very best wishes for the good things we hope are in store for him.

THE DEBATING CLUB

Another year has rolled by and again the "Rufus Choate Debating Society" has passed a milestone in its progress. Early in September the call was sounded for candidates and the result was gratifying. Over 30 candidates responded to the call and the following students were chosen to lead the club for the season 1936-1937: John Ryan, President; Morris Ankeles, Vice-President; Lillian Sigel, Secretary; Blanche Adler, Treasurer.

The Debating Society held competitive debates every other Wednesday evening in Room 107 on various important issues of the day, finally concluding in a girl-boy debate given in the auditorium.

The debate resolved around the question that "The Munroe Doctrine be abandoned by the United States." The girls upholding the affirmative were: Nancy Fox, Lillian Sigel, Ida Levy and Blanche Adler. The boys, upholding the negative were: Irving Small, Morris Ankeles, Herbert Kaster and Jacob Swartz. The boys were awarded the decision by the judges.

With such an abundance of fine orators and a fiery enthusiasm as shown by the members, the success of the organization was assured.

Much credit must be given to our faculty advisers, Mr. Frederick R. McManus and Mr. Arthur V. Johnson, who served so conspicuously in their advisory capacity.

CLASS PROPHECY

A glance at the calendar hanging on the wall which advertises John Alberghini's fruit store, shows the year to be 1950. The occasion is the 13th annual reunion of the "400" Club. Above the general din which is caused by one of Cassie Surman's jokes, it is decided to make a tour of the North Shore. Cassie, by the way, has made quite a name for herself in the field of book reviews. Everyone piles into Judy "Speed" Penttila's "Old Faithful" and we careen gaily down the street. A continual chorus of "ah's" caused by every handsome bachelor spied, among whom are James O'Leary, George Kline, George Baras and John Berry, proves the girls haven't changed even though married life becomes them all.

The first person to catch the attention of the roving "400" is Officer James Henry, untangling a traffic snarl caused by Roberts Flachbart and Gaudette, who are both chauffeurs. At the corner of Foster and Main streets something very unusual about the square is noticed and after much puzzled thought the girls realize that it is because the monument has been replaced by a statue of Leon Surman, the great aesthetic dancer. He started his career before the long mirrors in the P. H. S. Gym. Peabody's popular night spot, operated by William Spero, attracts the girls and the whole fourteen of them dash wildly in ignoring the very aloof doormen who prove to be our old pals, those two tried and true gentlemen, Robert Hicks and Alfred Mistretta. Inside they meet Angelica Skangos, the hostess, and are just in time to see the afternoon showing of the "Follies of 1950." This super-spectacle has been lent as a special favor by the successors to Florenz Ziegfeld, our old classmates, Max Freedson and Valentino Vercellone. The star of the floor show is none other than that popular dancer, Esther Stathos. The revue is made up of a group of buxom lassies, namely Rose Aplin, Hannah Broughton, Jean Cusick, Catherine Shea and Miriam Young. The orchestra leader is Charles Huntress, whose name is famous for his introduction of swazz into the world of music. He whispers on the sly that it is nothing more than what he learned fifth period Thursdays in band practice. He requests that Irja Anderson who is with the party, sing "Old Black Joe" of which she has increased the fame a million fold. Among the ardent enthusiasts of her number are Alexander Chumack, Thomas Hanley, Philip Falkingham, Samuel Yonis, musical scouts, all who have tried to sign her at various times. Cigarette girls are Mary Dooge and Anna Lastic who are dressed in their genuine ostrich feather costumes. They casually mention that better things could be for them, but they would miss the excitement.

Enjoyable as the afternoon is proving, the girls finally leave. The large load is beginning to tell on Judy's "chandelier" and Ruth Kenaley, now a penmanship teacher, being the usual possessor of bright ideas, begs the club to "listen willya" to her plan of hiring one of Thomas Flynn's General Transportation buses. The driver, much to the girl's delight proves to be Roger Trask who is still learning the bus trade from the bottom up. They have scarcely started off when seeing the ten cent store some candy becomes necessary and Pauline Perry is dispatched for some kisses with a dollar bill which has only yesterday been drawn from the bank through the kind services of Michael Ambrazavitch who has secured the position as teller in the bank. She purchases the candy from Vivian Barnett and while waiting for change "Polly" spies Joan Lees passing her time away in Woolworth's while her sailor husband roams the seven seas. Some other sales girls are Olivia Donovan, Bernice Hourihan and Edna Comeau, who always were excellent at rolling their eyes behind the counter.

While waiting for "Polly" to return, Norma Pearse, a "400'er", who has become a stenographer in spite of herself spies Michael Pietraszek entering James Dullea's hat shop in search of a square hat because he never could wear a round one. "Mehow" is manufacturing wings for a living. We now pass the Strand Theatre which is managed by Harold Maron whose eligibility for the position was his flashy socks and shirts. A great disturbance is seen ahead of us and is caused by Robert Dolloff who is using the occupation of an organ grinder for an outlet of his musical ability. The bus finally leaves the city limits and from force of habit everybody starts to leave only to realize suddenly that the nickel fare line didn't affect them today. On the way to Forest River Park we find Anne Laitinen and Anna Penttila swinging their practiced thumbs in the direction of Devereux. This is their day off from teaching school.

At Forest River we find nine men who go by the name of baseball players who are still practicing diligently in hopes of defeating a certain Lynn team. Among them we see Robert Lindgren, Joseph Yelverton, who is puffing strenuously to reach first base, William Ravaris, Edward Leonard, who is lending a hand from the big leagues, Ernest Bolcati and Frank Kulesza, the ace twirler. Robert LeCain is another not to be ignored. In the beautiful flower beds surrounding the pool, we see a farmerette whom on closer inspection we find to be Ruth Page still raising Sweet Williams. Eileen Dynan glances out to see if the gardener, Wesley Spence, who is an excellent caretaker of the dainty blossoms is doing justice by her favorite flowers, bachelor buttons. Leaning on a rake nearby is John Gallagher who at the finish of the W.P.A. substituted gardening on a rake as the line of least exertion. A handsome life guard strutting up and down proves to be our old classmate, Robert Quinn, bronzed almost beyond recognition. At leisure under the shade of the spreading trees we find Helen Hussey, Betty Lombard, and her inseparable comrade, Alice Lowe, spending their days as usual knitting, sewing and "stuff" mostly "stuff," while their husbands do the housework at home.

Suddenly we notice that Emma Woodworth is among the missing, but we soon find her in her natural element, for she is leaving all other contestants choking on the first bite as she calmly cleans up the last trickle of juice in a blueberry pie contest. But this isn't Emma's only accomplishment. She is also head nurse at Waverly with Eileen Dynan as her right hand assistant. Overshadowing the pool we see on a huge billboard painted by Carl Newhall, the great scenic artist, a dazzling girl advertising the latest brand of cigarettes. Can it be? Yes, it is actually Dorothy Callahan! Everybody gazed so long at this billboard that we didn't notice that "Dottie" Manning had slipped into the pool and was trying manfully to drown so that Pete Kastanko whom she noticed standing nearby could save her and add one more medal to his large collection.

As we are about to leave, "Dottie" finally gets revived and as we are on our way, we see Edward Kuva driving Kujawha's beer and oil truck. This business has expanded until it covers the whole country. Next, Anna May Mannix leans far out the window and says (sotto voice): "Girls, there is something strangely familiar about that man over there. Can it be? Why, yes it's my fifth husband."

We are now approaching Town House Square. Evidence that our old classmates are still active is seen everywhere. Lois King is running a hair dressing parlor, specializing in transformations. Her able assistant is Dorothy Krankka. By the way, they model their styles themselves. A little farther on we spy the sign "Stephen Lygomenos, Painless Dentist." He does his work by charm.

Who's that dashing youth trimming the windows of Ida Lerner's Lingerie Shop? He is none other than our classmate Sidney Edward Abrams. A peep through the door of Michael Gness' paper store shows James Lobao, John Sobutka, James Bowden, Edward Bozek and Paul Buchanan, up to their old tricks flirting with the commercial students of the High School while selling them supplies. Next we see Thomas Henry, Charles Karas and John Karahalis up to their old tricks again getting out of work leaning on their broom handles. They have risen to the heights of taking the white wings jobs away from them. After worming our way through a huge crowd of about three people who are listening to Lillian Sigel, who is orating strenuously, we see that her interested audience consists of Leonard Shneider, Maurice Salloway, Sarah Cohen, Rose Gold and Samuel Tanzer, who are all planning to enter the ancient and honorable profession of law. The latter is planning a singing career to break down hard-hearted juries.

In passing the historical Salem Common we wave a cheery greeting to Anna Vautour, Alice Sudak and Irene Tranos, together with Chris Batalaris and Philip Bourgeois who are practicing their "Capable Care of Cute Kiddies Course" on a large group of defenseless children. A slight flurry at one of the windows of the Hawthorne Hotel proves to be "Chris" Argeros crying her eyes out over the defeat of the championship bridge two-some, made up of herself and Helen Argetes. The victorious couple are meanwhile telling cub reporter, Agnes Mozer of the "Salem Crush," of which Chester Redman is the editor, that they owe their success to Principal Arthur Barry's endeavors to turn their interest in cards to better channels. They are Michael Kalinowsky and George Kalivas.

The bus rolls merrily along amidst the old "400" Club yell which was something to the effect of their having a word for it. Someone notices that "Polly" Courtis has lapsed into a familiar stupor and as expected this famous poetess soon is dramatically reciting an original poem, with gestures. A sudden swerve of the bus is caused by the antics of an automobile being driven by Catherine Dunn, who is still endeavoring to get her license under the capable direction of David McCarthy. On passing the tennis courts at the Willows we see a huge crowd gathered to watch Malcolm Douglas and John Roche playing a title match. The noise of their puffing reminds us of "Joe" Mogavero's V-8 which he is keeping to prove to posterity that he actually did once motivate such an ancient vehicle. "Joe" has realized his life-long ambition to get $5000 in the bank, etc. (mostly etc.) A huge electrical sign over the location of the old flying horses displays the words, "'Bob' Hamilton's Dime Dance Parlor." When the "400's" spy this, they immediately disembark from their now time-worn chariot, bid adieu to driver Trask, and resolve to make a night of it. They enter Bob's dancing salon and upon asking him if he said ten cents, he replies, "Yes, I said ten cents." Mary Lefas, Eva Manolakis and Ida and Ruth Marshall have accepted positions as hostesses in this emporium of joy with Max Bovio as the head bouncer. A slight disturbance which causes the girls to vanish out the rear exit bring them to the doors of the "Flying Aligators" which takes the place of the old flying horses. Bob Dubee is selling checks—for admittance. Warren Goodridge, walking up and down the sidewalk, is trying vainly to discover whether or not he is walking up and down for a purpose or just walking up and down. Next the "400's" see a sign advertising the ice cream parlor of that rich magnate, George Zakas. The girls never could pass by food so they enter and discover Genevieve Hubisz and Melinda Espindle to be waitreses.

The urge for a cooling breeze sends the girls toward the water where they find George Brazuk who agrees to dive off the diving board for their amusement. He always did like to show off for the girls. After the dive they spy "Joe" Ring with his usual armful of bundles and, surprise of surprises, there's Mary O'Neill the wealthy divorcee, tagging after him, accompanied by her personal maid, Doris O'Connor. Leo Gill is endeavoring to catch one of his mystical fish from the end of the pier but the cause looks rather hopeless. Barbara Stickney leaves the crowd, dividing her time between the "fishing genius" and State Teachers' College reunion. Among those attending this affair from the class of '37 are Philip Smyrnios, Helena Shea, Eva Sheperd, William Kolhonen and others. Tagging behind Barbara as usual is little Everett Wallace who in turn is trailed by "Lenny" Ward.

A quick glance into the "Modern Bowling Alleys" shows proprietor Louis Marshall directing his bowling pin boys, namely: John Perchekos and Arthur Starbard. The latter has been voted the champion "pin picker upper" of the world. The next source of entertainment is a new fangled idea, promoted by "Charley" Cooney who back in his high school days was never too busy to think up some wild scheme. The idea is a men's beauty contest with lady judges. Amicably bickering among themselves as to their many virtues are John Sheehy, king of golf; John Ryan, famous orator of the Senate; Leslie Pearse, man about town, and Stanley Trzcinski, expert mathematician (perfect on figure eights.) The judges are Eleanor Massey, Irene Osgood, Josephine Cola, Marguerite Reid and Annie Dunn. The contest is won by a dark horse, Leighton McOsker, previously unnoticed, and he is presented with a silver hating cup by Arlene Fischer, present Mayor of Peabody.

Whizz—a cloud of dust in the distance is a long cream colored roadster driven nonchalently by Elsie Balnaves. Sitting in a secluded corner is Bertha Fischer, teaching her ready, willing and able, but rather untalented students to draw. Her students are Evelyn Green, Eleanor Hourihan, Stanley Koziski, Joseph Pechinsky and Carl Brintnall. The latter is progressing slightly, but with more interest in the feminine portion of the passing crowds. A distant disturbance proves to be Priscilla and "Teddy" Vrettos, along with Alfred Surman, shouting the virtues of "freshly roasted double-jointed Barcelona peanuts." They claim their early practice was acquired in the music classes at good old P. H. S.

Next the girls turn to the playgrounds where races, etc. are taking place under the direction of "Stevie" Capellos, assisted by "Charlie" George and James Xindaris. Anne Kortinuk, famous girl athlete, is just puffing through the last round of a boxing match with Georgia Mirageos, fly-weight champion of the world. Esther Trabucco, always seen in Anne's presence, is busily engaged in the services of a second. Tessy Hiotis, good old "Tess," is refereeing the match, slightly in the favor of Anne. But a vicious circle is in the making. Tessy's husband, Louis Metaxatos, comes and carries her off to their domicile and her place is taken by Leah Papas who favors Georgia.

Soon we spy Rosina "Wally" DiCorce out for her regular evening stroll accompanied by the several offspring of Louis Buras who are under her care. Edwin Wilson, that blond cherub, who always did jerk soda with celerity, has set up quite a business for himself at the Willows. He has engaged Esther Wilson, all dressed up in a becoming white cap and apron, to fry clams in "Kriseo." Fascinated in watching this process, are Josephine Perfikowska and Lillian Bernard who are constantly seen together even while typewriting in the office of "Pop" Millstein, the famed politician. "Pop" has an eye for beauty as well as "political plums" and also in his employ are the two Stepenuck girls, Mary and Anne, along with Thomas White whom "Pop" has engaged to keep the "madding crowd" at its distance. Edward Thomas is having a terrible time trying to order a French dish in spite of the three years of French he enjoyed in his high school days. Katherine "Texas" Donahue has agents passing out booklets on "How to Get Your Man" in three lessons. The agents are Willie Waters and Lawrence Doherty who volunteer to be willing subjects of those who purchase the printed matter.

But, wait! There has been an accident and rushing to the scene are "Doc" O'Hara and Nurse Lillian Bateman, world famous medical team. The accident involves the famous golf "Pro" Bobby Munz who is as usual trying to talk his way out of the predicament. He spies Virginia Wentworth among the "400's" and instantly endeavors to engage her services to get him out of the mess. "Ginna" agrees and talks so long, loud, and fast that poor Officer Irving Ellison to whom her harangue is addressed, finally gives up in despair and tears up Bob's ticket just to rid himself of "Ginna."

And what may this be? Some poor man is being hounded by autograph collectors. The poor victim turns out to be Raymond Carpenter who substituted for Tarzan upon the latter's retirement. He has a well trained retinue of servants, Veronica Driscoll being his personal secretary, Burnett Hallowell, his private secretary, and Doris Shevchuk, his public secretary. The most ardent of the fans surrounding him are Mary McCarthy and Margaret Osgood, both of whom have acquired world famous collections. Lillian Singerman is standing primly nearby waiting for a chance to give him the key to the city. "You know," commented one of the girls, "we've seen most every member of the graduating class of 1937 today. There are only a few missing. Does anyone know what has happened to the rest?" This query brings out the information that Doris Verochi is taking a prominent part in the "Follies of 1950" now being screened in "Follywood" under Director Walter Tkachuk. Also in this city of glory are Helen Pietrazak, Helen Shambon and Alexandria Staniszewski. "Oliver Sullen Lee" Arlene Woodbury who has been happily married for many years, expresses her desire to return to her native town and so after a full and happy day the "400's" carry on.

Last Will and Testament of the Class of 1937

KNOW ALL MEN BY THESE PRESENTS: That we the members of the Senior Class of 1937, being of sound mind, presumably, do hereby bequeath, bestow and endow the following in part, as a whole, or otherwise without reservation either stated or implied. Behold this then, as our last Will and Testament or something.

"Skippy" Spero leaves a box of erasers to Mr. Brawley.

Helen Hussey bequeaths her cosmetics to some pale underclassman.

"Aggie" Mozer wills her "gift of gab" to Gloria Poor.

"Mickey" Freedson leaves her broque to Jacob Swartz.

"Polly" Perry wills her "height" to Preston Lee.

"Eddy" Kuva leaves his wise remarks to "Bananas" Walban.

"Ginna" Wentworth wills her oratorical powers to some quiet Junior.

"Charley" Karas leaves his "line" to whoever want it.

Leah Papas leaves her "drag" with Miss Cody to "Sis" Pierce.

Anna May Mannix wills her knowledge of men to "Duck" Sheehan.

"Yetski" Brazuk bequeaths his knowledge of women to "Sonny" Hammond.

"Mike" Ambrazavitch leaves his modish coiffure to any patient Junior.

Tessy Hiotis and "Barb" Stickney leave Mr. Sullivan's classes in peace and quiet.

Anna Lastic leaves her knowledge of the terpsichorean art to some under classman who "ain't got rhythm."

Rose Aplin leaves her platinum locks to Wanda Tyburg.

"Red" Kenaley wills her polka dot tan to "Red" Daley.

Leo Gill wills his enviable walk to somebody or other.

"Joe" Yelverton leaves his beard to "Bronko."

"Bob" Hicks bequeaths his shoulder to any Junior boy whose "big moment" is not troubled with insomnia.

Rose Gold leaves her cute lisp to some other charming miss.

Malcolm Douglas bequeaths his southern drawl to Anastasia Biskas.

The "400" Club leaves its charter to the fourteen most up and coming Junior girls.

"Willie" Waters leaves his bicycle to some boy who appreciates West Peabody scenery, etc.

Emma Woodworth leaves her "Athletic Ability" to no one knows whom.

Ruth Page leaves her baton for someone else to "Swing."

"Dottie" Manning leaves her red sweater to memories of the past.

"Jack" Sheehy wills his clubs to any "dub" who wants them.

Arlene Woodbury leaves her "way" with all of us to parties yet unknown.

"Joe" Mogavero leaves his modest and unassuming aspect to anyone who wants it.

Judith "Speed" Penttila leaves her auto (alias the chandelier) empty at last.

Olivia Donovan leaves her "blush of innocence" to a modest Junior.

The entire Senior Class leave their table manners to the Juniors.

The entire Senior Class leaves the High School, but takes with them memories that will grow in richness as time goes on.

In testimony to the authenticity of this statement we hereby affix our name and seal (try and find them) this tenth day of June 1937.

Signed THE SENIOR CLASS.

GIRLS' ATHLETICS

Another successful year in girls' athletics has been completed under our director and coach, Miss Helen Riley. Early in the year the girls were divided into two teams, the Blue Team led by co-captains "Sis" Pierce and Chris Argeros and the White Team under the leadership of Anne Kortinuk. A call for field hockey candidates was made and practice sessions were held although no regular games were played.

In November basketball practice was started although Coach Riley had just returned to school after being out for almost a month suffering from a broken bone in her foot. She was certainly missed by the girls and teachers as well. Over one hundred girls answered the call for practice, among them many very promising freshmen. With a few tips from the coach, Miss Riley, the newcomers did not find the game difficult. A basketball tournament was soon underway and in a short time Miss Riley selected her varsity. The members of last year's varsity squad elected Emma Woodworth captain of the team and Anne Kortinuk, manager. The girls completed their basketball season very successfully, with one loss and one tie to mar their perfect record.

The girls' second annual gym meet was held May 28. The girls made a splendid appearance in their blue and white uniforms. The White Team was awarded the cup for having the highest number of points. There were two individual cups awarded this year, due to the fact that both Anne Kortinuk and Chrisoula Argeros had almost the same number of points. The basketball team was awarded jackets, insignia and certificates. The members of our class to receive jackets and certificates were Emma Woodworth, Anna May Mannix, Tessy Hiotis, Anne Kortinuk, Chrisoula Argeros, Rose Aplin and Barbara Stickney.

AFTERWORD

The Meta is ended. We trust that it is capable of reflecting to us some of the high lights of our career in Peabody High School and that it will help us to remember in the years to come our faculty friends and classmates with whom we have spent four happy years. If it will do this we are satisfied that our endeavors are well rewarded.
